Mathilda Cristian Butnariu:

Mathilda Cristian Butnariu, 2015-12-09 Confrontations directed by women at their male lovers interest me as do interpersonal confrontations of most kinds From my experience of being in a culturally mixed marriage I know that cultural differences can have tremendous impact on behavior My background is replete with strong taboos against confrontation my upbringing in India contained the tacit understanding that women didn't challenge or contradict those who held power over them Two of the most bitter women in my life were my grandmothers I didn't understand either of them as a child I understand now that they had plenty to be angry about plenty that made them hard hearted and unpredictable in their affections I fantasize about what might have been different in their lives if they had had the permission or the option to confront those responsible for the harsh constraints of their lives Maitreyi Devi was a contemporary of my grandmothers Born in 1914 she was seventy six when she died in 1990 For her time she was remarkably well educated and she was encouraged to express herself artistically She was already attending university and was an accomplished poet at sixteen and a favorite of Rabindranath Tagore whom she referred to as Gurudev sacred teacher following the custom of other Indians That she had a romance at the age of sixteen with a foreign man is remarkable enough for that era That she may have had sexual intercourse with him or anyone else before marriage is a sign of the permission that she felt she had to take such a risk in the face of the kinds of horrors family and society routinely had in store for women who crossed that line The early permission to explore must have been rooted in the same conviction that directed her forty years later to confront the man who claimed to have ruptured her virginity *Catalogue of Title-entries of Books and Other Articles Entered in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington, Under the Copyright Law ...
