important innovative tools for gathering preserving and sharing information around the globe In light of our increasingly multicultural societies and the expanding digital divide we need new and more inclusive approaches to the collection of cultural heritage This means that critical reflection on both the contents of collections and methods of acquisition is crucial The International Information Center and Archives for the Women's Movement IIAV in Amsterdam provides a case study in how to approach these issues It considered such questions as how to make optimal use of new media and whose histories should be represented in its archives In Traveling Heritage's international and national heritage experts from academic library and archival professions reflect upon these questions offering new perspectives on documenting women's histories

Transnational Feminism in Non-English Speaking Europe, c.1960-1990 Agnes Andeweg, Heidi Kurvinen, 2024-12-27 This edited collection aims to look beyond established narratives of feminist history by focusing on non English speaking European countries Recent scholarship on the history of the women's liberation movement in individual countries has enhanced our understanding of the importance of transnational influences in the history of European feminism and problematised the periodisation of feminisms Additionally the translation of feminist practices and texts have received interest during the past years Despite this work the United States and to a lesser extent the United Kingdom are still the main points of reference in histories of post war feminism This book asks what happens to the picture if we place non English speaking European countries in the centre Using Lucy Delap's concept of mosaic feminism its contributors emphasise the variety of patterns that women's feminist organising showed in different cultural contexts despite similarities in their ideological corner stones

New Findings in Long-Wave Research Alfred

Klienkecht, Ernest Mandel, Immanuel Wallerstein, 1993-02-12 This book presents new methods for the analysis of time series and the identification of long waves In Part One it is shown that new time series analyses confirm the existence of Kondratieff long waves in economic growth for the 19th and 20th centuries Part Two presents evidence on long waves in aggregate profit rates for selected major industrialized countries Part Three covers theoretical discussions and attempts at modeling social economic and technological factors in long waves History of the Low Countries J. C. H. Blom, E. Lamberts, 2006-06-01

The history of the smaller European countries is rather neglected in the teaching of European history at university level We are therefore pleased to announce the publication of the first comprehensive history of the Low Countries in English from Roman Times to the present Remaining politically and culturally fragmented with its inhabitants speaking Dutch French Frisian and German the Low Countries offer a fascinating picture of European history en miniature For historical reasons parts of northern France and western Germany also have to be included in the Low Countries a term that must remain both broad and fluid a convenient label for a region which has seldom if ever composed a unified whole In earlier ages it was even more difficult to set parameters again reflecting Europe as a whole when tribes and kingdoms stretched across expanses not limited to the present states of Belgium Luxembourg and the Netherlands Nevertheless its parts did demonstrate many common traits and similar developments that differentiated them from surrounding countries and lent them a distinct character Internationally the region often served both as a mediator for and a buffer to the surrounding great powers France Britain and Germany an important role still played today as Belgium and the Netherlands have increasingly become involved in the broader process of European integration in which they often share the same interest and follow parallel policies This highly illustrated volume serves as an ideal introduction to the rich history of the Low Countries for students and the generally interested reader alike The Library Catalogs of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, Stanford University Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, 1969

Two Centuries of Experience in Water Resources Management John Lonnquest, Bert Toussaint, Joe Manous, 2015-03-20 Protecting Women Ulla Wikander, Alice Kessler-Harris, Jane E. Lewis, 1995 Enacted in almost every industrial country a century ago protective legislation directed toward women provoked bitter controversy pitting men against women women against women and elected officials against political parties Strong conflicts arose over what constituted protection Does this kind of legislation help preserve women's capacities to mother or is it intended to preserve men's jobs Does protective legislation help achieve workplace equality Does it give the state the right to intrude into private family life and if so how far In this international collection thirteen historians explore the origin and array of protective labor legislation directed at women The authors analyze ideologies attitudes and effects of legislation across women's classes among employers and workers organizations and in both bourgeois and socialist feminist groups Their essays raise profoundly disturbing questions and provide startling insights as to why the debates that originated more than a hundred years ago are still unresolved The contributors are from Australia Austria Denmark Germany
