

The Cry of the Children<sup>1</sup>

“Φεῦ, φεῦ, τί προσδέρκεσθέ μ’ ὄμμασιν, τέκνα;”
—Medea<sup>2</sup>

Do ye hear the children weeping, O my brothers, Ere the sorrow comes with years?
They are leaning their young heads against their mothers,
And that cannot stop their tears.

5 The young lambs are bleating in the meadows,
The young birds are chirping in the nest,
The young fawns are playing with the shadows,
The young flowers are blowing toward the west—
But the young, young children, O my brothers, 10 They are weeping bitterly!
They are weeping in the playtime of the others,
In the country of the free.

Do you question the young children in the sorrow
Why their tears are falling so?
15 The old man may weep for his to-morrow
Which is lost in Long Ago;
The old tree is leafless in the forest,
The old year is ending in the frost,
The old wound, if stricken, is the sorest, 20 The old hope is hardest to be lost:
But the young, young children, O my brothers,
Do you ask them why they stand Weeping sore° before the bosoms of their mothers,
In our happy Fatherland?

Listen To The Cry Of The Child:

The Cry of the Children Kitty Havener, 2016-03-18 It is no secret that growing up in today's world is challenging. From the time children are conceived until they graduate from high school, parents have an average of nineteen years to prepare them to face the world on their own. In this short time span, we must successfully communicate to our children the value of their lives in such a way that they pick it up themselves and carry it throughout their lives with great care. Passionate children's advocate and ministry volunteer Kitty Havener relies on Scripture and on her experience as a mother of four to share inspirational advice intended to help parents embrace their children with the kind of love that will meet their needs both today and in the future. She carefully considers what today's children are missing, what prevents them from living fruitfully. Havener also encourages parents to care for their children's spirits as much as they care for their minds and bodies, establish their children's self-worth as a valuable asset, and teach their children to live truthfully, choosing their own paths. The Cry of the Children guides parents through the process of learning what our children really need from us and why we should listen to the cries of their hearts and then partner with God to meet their needs. A Child's Cry Kathleen Lamprell, 2005-06-01

My story of childhood abuse in poetry form The Listening Child: What Can Go Wrong Stephen V. Prescod, 2012-09-18 The struggle to survive in today's noisy classrooms is real. The child's poor performance often leads authorities to apply undue pressure on him, frequently concluding that he is lazy or of low intelligence, which is certainly not the case. The child's brain is a complex storage and retrieval organ which mandates that information be properly received, stored, and organized in order to be retrieved for proper use. The child who processes information normally in the classroom is constantly assigning meaning to what is being said in the classroom. The brain is capable of performing these functions in milliseconds as long as there is a built-in attention filtering device that assists him in processing relevant information and filtering out or eliminating that which is not. The child who has processing difficulties is not equipped with the excellent filtering capabilities of the normal processing child. His primary difficulty is that of learning through a defective auditory hearing channel. Unlike the normal listener, he cannot make maximum use of what he hears for academic purposes, even though his hearing is normal. Something seems to intercept the information between what he hears with the normal ear and its decoding by the brain. He allows in both relevant and irrelevant information all at once. Because of poor storage and retrieval capabilities as well, this results in inadequate receptive, expressive, and integrative functioning on the part of the child. You may often hear him say to the teacher, "I forget. What did you say? Would you repeat that? I don't understand." The Listening Child explains in layman's terms what teachers and what parents need to know about this child's difficulty. Your Self-Confident Baby Magda Gerber, Allison Johnson, 2008-04-21 At long last, Magda Gerber's wisdom and spice captured in a book, what a treasure! Encyclopaedia of Illustrations in Theology and Morals Robert Aitkin Bertram,1880 Why Children Don't Listen Monika Kiel-Hinrichsen,2014-03-31 What can you do when a child just won t listen How we speak to each other is at the very heart of human relationships Children are often much better than adults at reading between the lines and deciphering the messages we send through body language and tone of voice This is an invaluable handbook for parents and teachers on how to communicate better with children It covers all aspects of talking to and importantly listening to children including communication with children of different ages and understanding the wider situation in which the conversation is taking place The author translates the theory into practical everyday solutions There are useful exercises throughout to help us communicate more successfully Born Wise Lena Dyhrberg,2014-06-03 For generations it has been the common perception that children are inarticulate little creatures who like empty shells must be filled with knowledge and experiences However according to family health nurse Lena Dyhrberg this is not at all the case Your child arrives in this world with a highly developed intuition and knowledge and your child understands everything you say In this book she gives numerous examples of how she by talking with children has helped families eradicate everything from colic to chronic colds in addition to helping them through difficult life crises Born Wise also tackles today's tendency to turn children into projects and parenting into a science Lena Dyhrberg takes us by the hand and lovingly shows us how simply it can be done Mette

Tears Heal Kate Orson, 2016-10-06 One of the most difficult things parents of babies and young children have to deal with are tears When babies cry parents shhh or rock them to try to get them to stop When toddlers tantrum parents may distract them attempt to reason with them or ignore their crying in the hope it won't last long It seems natural to judge the success of parenting by how much children cry Tears Heal will allow readers to discover parenting's biggest paradigm shift the way they respond to their children's tears Here parents will learn how to transform their parenting by moving away from stopping feelings towards listening instead Tears Heal explains how children's challenging behaviour comes from unheard feelings and how through simple shifts in how we respond to their upsets we can solve our parenting struggles Tears Heal is warm and full of empathy for the hard work and struggles that parents go through It also has a strong leaning towards helping parents with their own emotions as they deal with their children's challenging moments It explains why we find children's feelings hard to handle because our feelings weren't fully listened to when we were children and shows how we can nurture and support ourselves so that we can be the parents we want to be
