

Governing by Network

A large triangular network diagram composed of smaller triangles and nodes. The diagram is a Sierpinski triangle, a fractal that is a self-similar geometric figure. It is constructed by starting with a large equilateral triangle, dividing it into four smaller equilateral triangles, and then removing the central triangle. This process is repeated for each of the three remaining triangles. The diagram is composed of 10 nodes (small circles) and 15 edges (lines connecting the nodes). The nodes are arranged in a triangular pattern: the top row has 1 node, the second row has 2 nodes, the third row has 3 nodes, and the bottom row has 4 nodes. The edges connect the nodes in a way that forms a series of smaller triangles within the larger triangle.
