Kin Recognition Hardcover By Hepper Peter G Published By Cambridge University Press:

The New Evolutionary Sociology Jonathan Turner, Richard Machalek, 2018-03-09 For decades evolutionary analysis was overlooked or altogether ignored by sociologists. Fears and biases persisted nearly a century after Auguste Comte gave the discipline its name as did concerns that its effect would only reduce sociology to another discipline whether biology, psychology or economics. Worse apprehension that the application of evolutionary theory would encourage heightened perceptions of racism, sexism, ethnocentrism and reductionism pervaded. Turner and Machalek argue instead for a new embrace of biology and evolutionary analysis. Sociology from its very beginnings in the early 19th century has always been concerned with the study of evolution, particularly the transformation of societies from simple to ever more complex forms. By comprehensively reviewing the original ways that sociologists applied evolutionary theory and examining the recent renewal and expansion of these early approaches, the authors confront the challenges posed by biology, neuroscience and psychology to distinct evolutionary approaches within sociology. They emerge with key theoretical and methodological discoveries that demonstrate the critical and compelling case for a dramatically enriched sociology that incorporates all forms of comparative evolutionary analysis to its canon and study of sociocultural phenomena. Bee World, 1991 Anthropology Newsletter, 1991 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1992 Kin Recognition Peter G. Hepper, 1991-06-28 Kin recognition or the ability to recognize one's genetic relations is universal throughout the animal kingdom from amoebas to humans. This trait benefits the organism by helping to insure the survival of a specific gene group and it is also an important factor in mate choice. Indeed, kin recognition is one of the fastest growing and most exciting areas of behavior. The study of kin recognition requires a multidisciplinary approach and Dr Hepper has brought together leading researchers from zoology, biology, psychology and sociology to create a thought provoking and critical analysis of our current knowledge of the phenomenon with particular emphasis on the underlying processes involved and their significance for the evolution of social behavior. Together they attempt to answer the questions of how individuals recognize other individuals as kin, nonkin or different classes of kin and why they respond differently to kin and nonkin.
