

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist and believes that African-Americans are inferior to white people. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry, he begins to see them as individuals and not just as a race. This change in attitude is what allows him to lead the regiment with respect and dignity.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a regiment of African-American soldiers who fought in the American Civil War. The regiment was made up of soldiers from different parts of the country, including the North and South. This diversity of origin and background is what makes the 54th so unique.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the 54th were very hostile to the African-American soldiers. They believed that they were inferior and that they should not be allowed to fight alongside them. However, as the movie progresses, some of the white soldiers begin to change their attitudes and see the African-American soldiers as equals.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, blacks were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were paid less than white soldiers and were often given the most dangerous and difficult assignments. However, the 54th Massachusetts Infantry was one of the few regiments of African-American soldiers that were treated with some respect and dignity.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender is significant because it shows that he was willing to die for his country and his men. This decision also shows that he was a brave and courageous leader.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings/oughts does your tell, why?

The incident ended as I expected. I felt that the 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a brave and courageous regiment and that they deserved to be remembered for their service to the country. I also felt that the movie was a good representation of the experiences of African-American soldiers in the Union army.
