

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior to white people. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts, he begins to see them as individuals and not just as a race. This change in attitude is what allows him to lead the regiment with respect and dignity.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts is a regiment of African-American soldiers who were recruited from all over the country. This tells us that there were many different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America, and that they all came from different regions of the country.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the 54th were very hostile to them. They saw them as inferior and not worthy of being soldiers. However, as they spent more time with them, their attitudes began to change. They began to see them as individuals and not just as a race.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, blacks were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were paid less than white soldiers, and they were not allowed to hold the same positions as white soldiers. This was because of the prevailing attitude of white supremacy at the time.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender is significant because it shows that he was willing to die for his men. This was a very brave decision, and it helped to inspire the soldiers in the 54th.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings?/thoughts come over you left with?

Yes, the incident ended as I expected. The 54th was awarded the Medal of Honor for their bravery. This was a very important moment in the history of the African-American community, and it helped to change the way that people viewed them.
