The Psychometrics of Standard Setting Mark D. Reckase,2023-01-31 This book provides a unifying structure for the activities that fall under the process typically called standard setting on tests of proficiency Standard setting refers to the methodology used to identify performance standards on tests of proficiency The results from standard setting studies are critical for supporting the use of many types of tests The process is frequently applied to educational psychological licensure certification and other types of tests and examination systems The literature on procedures for standard setting is extensive but the methodology for standard setting has evolved in a haphazard way over many decades without a unifying theory to support the evaluation of the methods and the validation of inferences made from the standards This book provides a framework for going beyond specific standard setting methods to gain an understanding of the goals for the methods and how to evaluate whether the goals have been achieved The unifying structure provided in this book considers policy that calls for the existence of performance standards the relationship of proficiency test design to the policy and tasks assigned to subject matter experts to help them convert the policy to estimates of locations on the reporting score scale for the test The book provides guidance on how to connect the psychometric aspects of the standard setting process to the intentions of policy makers as expressed in policy statements Furthermore the structure is used to support validity arguments for inferences made when using standards Examples are provided to show how the unifying structure can be used to evaluate and improve standard setting methodology

Strategies to Improve Cardiac Arrest Survival Institute of Medicine,Board on Health Sciences Policy,Committee on the Treatment of Cardiac Arrest: Current Status and Future Directions,2015-09-29 Cardiac arrest can strike a seemingly healthy individual of any age race ethnicity or gender at any time in any location often without warning Cardiac arrest is the third leading cause of death in the United States following cancer and heart disease Four out of five cardiac arrests occur in the home and more than 90 percent of individuals with cardiac arrest die before reaching the hospital First and foremost cardiac arrest treatment is a community issue local resources and personnel must provide appropriate high quality care to save the life of a community member Time between onset of arrest and provision of care is fundamental and shortening this time is one of the best ways to reduce the risk of death and disability from cardiac arrest Specific actions can be implemented now to decrease this time and recent advances in science could lead to new discoveries in the causes of and treatments for cardiac arrest However specific barriers must first be addressed Strategies to Improve Cardiac Arrest Survival examines the complete system of response to cardiac arrest in the United States and identifies opportunities within existing and new treatments strategies and research that promise to improve the survival and recovery of patients The recommendations of Strategies to Improve Cardiac Arrest Survival provide high priority actions to advance the field as a whole This report will help citizens government agencies and private industry to improve health outcomes from sudden cardiac arrest across the United States
