Gone Are Leaves Anne Donovan:

Gone are the Leaves Anne Donovan, 2014-05-01 Feilamort can remember very little of his childhood before he became a choir boy in the home of the Laird and his French wife Feilamort has one of the finest voices in the land It is a gift he believes will protect him Deirdre has lived in the castle all her short life Apprentice to her mother she embroiders the robes for one of Scotland's finest families She can capture with just a few delicate stitches the ripeness of a bramble or the glint of bronze on a fallen leaf But with her mother pushing her to choose between a man she does not love and a closed world of prayer and solitude Deirdre must decide for herself what her life will become When the time comes for Feilamort to make an awful decision his choice catapults himself and Deirdre head first into adulthood As the two friends learn more about Feilamort's forgotten childhood it becomes clear that someone close is intent on keeping it hidden Full of wonder and intrigue and told with the grace and charm for which Anne Donovan is so beloved Gone Are the Leaves is the enchanting story of one boy's lost past and his uncertain future

Prizing Scottish Literature Stevie Marsden, 2021-02-15 This cultural history of the Saltire Society Literary Awards demonstrates the significance the awards have had within Scottish literary and cultural life It is one piece of the wider cultural award puzzle and illustrates how far from being parochial or niche lesser known awards whose histories may be yet untold play their own role in the circulation of cultural value through the consecration of literary value The study of the Society's Book of the Year and First Book of the Year Awards not only highlights how important connections between literary awards and national culture and identity are within prize culture and how literary awards and their founding institutions can be products of the socio political and cultural milieu in which they form but this study also illustrates how existing literary award scholarship has only begun to scratch the surface of the complexities of the phenomenon This book promotes a new approach to considering literary prizes proposing that the concept of the literary awards hierarchy can contribute to emerging and developing discourses pertaining to literary and indeed cultural prizes more broadly

Don't Look for Me Ann Donovan, 2023-11-14 1942 The Jewish Ghetto in Amsterdam When Jozef and Trudi's father dies in a concentration camp after being falsely arrested in 1941 as a saboteur their mother goes into hiding putting them in a children's home for their safety But when a decision is taken by the Nazis to kill all Jews including children they are destined for deportation to a concentration camp and almost certain death Their 22 year old cousin a nurse working in the Jewish hospital decides to rescue them Can Hetty save her cousins from the dangers and threats that face them all Don't Look for Me is based on a true story of love loss escape and survival It's the story of a rebellious and determined young woman and her young cousin in the Nazi occupied Netherlands during WW2 Three quarters of the Jews living in the Netherlands in 1940 were killed during WW2 This is a story of survival against the odds
