The Excavations at Wijnaldum Annet Nieuwhof, 2021-01-16 Wijnaldum is nowadays an unassuming rural village in the north of the province of Friesland no more than a small dot on the map of the Netherlands But during the Early Middle Ages this probably was a lively political center a kingdom with intensive contacts with other kingdoms along the North Sea coasts and with the Frankish realm to the south The search for the king that resided at Wijnaldum was the major goal of the excavations that were carried out at the terp Wijnaldum Tjitsma between 1991 and 1993 These excavations yielded a wealth of information although tangible remains of the king or a royal residence were not found What was found was a lot of pottery The ceramic assemblage from the first Millennium consists of local handmade and imported wheel thrown pottery revealing contacts with the wider world The first results and an overview of the habitation phases were published in 1999 in Volume 1 of The Excavations at Wijnaldum The ceramic assemblage and its consequences for the habitation history of Wijnaldum are the main subjects of this second volume

Britain and the Netherlands A. C. Duke, 2012-12-06 War has ever exercised a great appeal on men s minds Oscar Wilde s witticism notwithstanding this fascination cannot be attributed simply to the wicked character of war The demonic forces released by war have caught the artistic imagination while sages have reflected on the enigmatic readiness of each new generation to wage war despite the destruction disillusion and exhaustion that war is known to bring in its train If there never was a good war and a bad peace why did armed conflicts recur with such distressing regularity Was large scale violence an intrinsic condition of Man The answers given to such questions have differed widely it has even been suggested that the states of war and peace are not as far removed from one another as is usually supposed The causes of war and the interaction between war and society have long been the subject of philosophical enquiry and historical analysis According to Thucydides no one was ever compelled to go to war Cicero remarked how dumb were the laws in time of war while Clausewitz s profound observation concerning the affinity between war and politics has become almost a commonplace War being the severest test a society or state can experience historians have naturally been concerned to investigate their relationship Grazing and Conservation Management Michiel F. WallisDe Vries, Jan P. Bakker, Sipke E. Van Wieren, 2012-12-06 Grazing animals enjoy an ambiguous reputation in the field of nature conservation Livestock are often treated as a scourge yet native large herbivores form the prime attraction of many a reserve This book gives the first comprehensive overview of the use of grazing as a tool in conservation management Considering in turn the ecological and historical background the impact of grazing on community structure management applications and future prospects this book examines issues such as the role of herbivores as keystone species the assessment of habitat quality and the function of scientific models in advancing grazing management Large herbivores are shown to be potentially powerful allies in the management of nature reserves particularly in the maintenance enhancement or restoration of biodiversity Grazing and Conservation Management will appeal to conservation biologists and rangeland managers providing them with a clearer understanding of grazing and conservation management Coping with Crisis: The Resilience and Vulnerability of Pre-Industrial Settlements Daniel R. Curtis, 2016-05-13 Why in the pre industrial period were some settlements resilient and stable over the long term while other settlements were vulnerable to crisis Indeed what made certain human habitations more prone to decline or even total collapse than others All pre industrial societies had to face certain challenges exogenous environmental hazards such as earthquakes or plagues economic or political hazards from outside such as warfare or expropriation of property or hazards of their own making such as soil erosion or subsistence crises How then can we explain why some societies were able to overcome or negate these problems while other societies proved susceptible to failure as settlements contracted stagnated were abandoned or even disappeared entirely This book has been stimulated by the questions and hypotheses put forward by a recent disaster studies literature in particular by placing the intrinsic arrangement of societies at the forefront of the explanatory framework Essentially it is suggested that the resilience or vulnerability of habitation has less to do with exogenous crises themselves but on endogenous societal responses which dictate a the extent of destruction caused by crises and the capacity for society to protect itself and b the capacity to create a sufficient recovery By empirically testing the explanatory framework on a number of societies between the Middle Ages and the nineteenth century in England the Low Countries and Italy it is ultimately argued in this book that rather than the protective functions of the state or the market or the implementation of technological innovation or capital investment the most resilient human habitations in the pre industrial period were those than displayed an equitable distribution of property and a well balanced distribution of power between social interest groups Equitable distributions of power and property were the underlying conditions in pre industrial societies that all De tijdspiegel ,1882 Staatkundig en staathuishoudkundig jaarboekje ,1858 Repertorium der verhandelingen en bijdragen betreffende de geschiedenis des vaderlands, in tijdschriften en mengelwerken Louis David Petit, Hilletje Jacoba Adolphina Ruys, 1913 Repertorium der verhandelingen en bijdragen betreffende de geschiedenis des vaderlands ,1913 Between Lay Piety and Academic Theology ,2013-02-06 For centuries the relation between lay piety and academic theology has determined the faith of lay people as well as developments in theology and influenced daily life as well as scholarly discussions In this book an international and multidisciplinary panel of specialists covering the fields of church history history of literature music history book history and art history reflects on a broad range of research topics providing a fascinating and refreshing view on what this relation has been throughout the centuries Christoph Burger has given a major impulse to the research into the history of theology notably the issue of adapting academic theology for lay people The contributions to this Festschrift reflect this broad spectrum of correlations between learned theology and lay piety from the Early Church period until modern times The book contains contributions to the research on lay piety as well as academic theology in the Middle Ages Reformation and the modern period as well as their representations in such media as printed books and woodcuts The result is a truly epoch transcending and interdisciplinary volume
