Stories of Childhood Dean W. Duncan,2015-11-03 This study questions the widely held perception that books as an artistic medium are superior to and more respectable than film or television sometimes considered frivolous and pernicious Criticism of both the big and small screens often obscures their signal accomplishments and the entertainment and insight they provide The author analyzes our distaste for these media and the romanticizing of the printed word that accompanies it and argues that books and films are in fact quite complementary A broad survey of film and TV offerings explores what enacted narratives have taught us about the nature of childhood The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record ,1929 The Works of the Rev. John Howe, M. A. with Memoirs of His Life Complete in Two Volumes John Howe,Edmund Calamy,1857 The Bookseller ,1969 Vols for 1871 76 1913 14 include an extra number The Christmas bookseller separately paged and not included in the consecutive numbering of the regular series The Publishers Weekly ,1902 Blue October An Autobiography William Rook,2009-10-11 Memories of life in rural Western Minnesota from 1916 2006 an autobiography by William Warring Rook American Dreams in Mississippi Ted Ownby,2002-10-15 The dreams of abundance choice and novelty that have fueled the growth of consumer culture in the United States would seem to have little place in the history of Mississippi a state long associated with poverty inequality and rural life But as Ted Ownby demonstrates in this innovative study consumer goods and shopping have played important roles in the development of class race and gender relations in Mississippi from the antebellum era to the present After examining the general and plantation stores of the nineteenth century a period when shopping habits were stratified according to racial and class hierarchies Ownby traces the development of new types of stores and buying patterns in the twentieth century when women and African Americans began to wield new forms of economic power Using sources as diverse as store ledgers blues lyrics and the writings of William Faulkner Eudora Welty Richard Wright and Will Percy he illuminates the changing relationships among race rural life and consumer goods and in the process offers a new way to understand the connection between power and culture in the American South Commentary on the Holy Bible by the Rev. Matthew Henry. With Memoirs of His Life, Character, and Writings, by Sir J. Bickerton Williams, and an Introductory Essay by the Rev. John Stoughton. Illustrated, Etc. [With the Text.] ,1857
