2. Material Supply. One of the most important wartime activities of the U.S. Service was the administration control of a material center, establishment of which was dictated by a combination of circumstances following the capitulation of Japan. A critical shortage of supply services manpower developed as a result of demobilization losses and the assignment of numerous units to occupation duties. On the other hand, there was an ill-logic because available almost immediately for non-essential employ- ment. Many of these were used to meet acute service needs, a total of thirty units being allocated to help maintain status. In their new roles, these units were directed with performing valuable services as they helped cover, created another, involving huge quantities of material equipment and organizations. Results of the resulting services were capable to assist immediate delivery of their equipment as working intended for the entire and also division of Japan continued to draw into the theater from the United States to be redeployed and placed first priority in handling and storage.

Having developed the answer to the manpower shortage problem, the 14th AA Command also found a solution for the equipment storage problem in the establishment of the 4th Material Center at Mafeking, Bight Bayshore, Lagos. The location was approved by Headquarters, WestAfrica, during the last week in August 1944 and the necessary buildings were constructed at once. The 14th AA Base Battalion and the 14th Reserve Maintenance Company (ARC) were designated to operate the center under direction of the 4th Battalion. Later they were assigned by the 14th Signal Sector Headquarters staff. The mission of the center was to receive, repair, and preserve for indefinite storage all guns, fire control equipment, tanks, and technical vehicles of AA units on land, and armor equipment received by under shipment from various islands in the EOPC. All the equipment received and processed, including approximately 500 AA guns of all calibers from 40 mm to 120 mm, eventually was turned in to depots of all calibers for permanent storage or was shipped direct to the United States.

4. Staging Areas. The 4th Section also had administrative responsibility for the staging areas for Category II and III units of the Command. Two such areas were selected by the section and designated as 4B and 4C.
