terms In developing a positive account of non linguistic thought he shows how the experimental tools used by developmental psychologists and students of animal behavior can be used to give a precise account of the way in which a human infant or non human animal is representing the world Much of the book is devoted to exploring the differences between thinking without words and language based thinking Berm dez argues that there are clear limits to the expressive power of non linguistic thought Nonetheless he identifies primitive analogues at the non linguistic level that can be used to explain sophisticated non linguistic behaviors Thinking Without Words is the first full length philosophical study of this important topic It is written with an interdisciplinary readership in mind and will appeal to philosophers psychologists and students of animal behavior

Partnerships in Birds : The Study of Monogamy Jeffrey M. Black, 1996-05-30 Some birds mate for life while others have many partners Why In this book fourteen classic studies of bird behaviour are brought together to compare the different partnership patterns from ecological and evolutionary perspectives Often there is a battle of the sexes as individual birds behave in the way that serves their best interests Introductory and concluding chapters review the latest thinking on this fascinating subject Some birds mate for life while others have many partners In this book fourteen studies are brought together to compare different partnership patterns from ecological and evolutionary perspectives The subjects have been chosen to include the same species living in different habitats Sparrowhawks and at different population densities Great Tits There are comparisons between closely related species Mute Swans and Bewick s Swans The studies span the globe and the behavioural gradient from Iceland s strictly monogamous Whooper Swans to Australia s sexually promiscuous Splendid Fairy wrens In all cases sexual and social relationships strongly influence a bird s survival and breeding success

Supernatural Selection Matt Rossano, 2010-06-08 In 2006 scientist Richard Dawkins published a blockbuster bestseller The God Delusion This atheist manifesto sparked a furious reaction from believers who have responded with numerous books of their own By pitting science against religion however this debate overlooks what science can tell us about religion According to evolutionary psychologist Matt J Rossano what science reveals is that religion made us human In Supernatural Selection Rossano presents an evolutionary history of religion Neither an apologist for religion nor a religion basher he draws together evidence from a wide range of disciplines to show the valuable even essential adaptive purpose served by systematic belief in the supernatural The roots of religion stretch as far back as half a million years when our ancestors developed the motor control to engage in social rituals that is to sing and dance together Then about 70 000 years ago a global ecological crisis drove humanity to the edge of extinction It forced the survivors to create new strategies for survival and religious rituals were foremost among them Fundamentally Rossano writes religion is a way for humans to relate to each other and the world around them and in the grim struggles of prehistory it offered significant survival and reproductive advantages It emerged as our ancestors first health care system and a critical part of that health care system was social support Religious groups tended to be far more cohesive which gave them a competitive advantage over non religious groups and enabled them to conquer the globe Rather than focusing on one aspect of religion as many theorists do Rossano offers an all encompassing approach that is rich with surprises insights and provocative conclusions
