UFAW Handbook on the Care and Management of Laboratory and Other Research Animals Robert C.

Hubrecht, James Kirkwood, 2010-01-19 The seminal reference on the care of laboratory and captive animals The UFAW

Handbook on the Care and Management of Laboratory and Other Research Animals is a must have for anyone working in this field. The UFAW Handbook has been the definitive text since 1947. Written for an international audience, it contains contributions from experts from around the world. The book focuses on best practice principles throughout, providing comprehensive coverage with all chapters being peer reviewed by anonymous referees. As well as addressing the husbandry of laboratory animals, the content is also of great value to zoos and aquaria. Changes for the eighth edition: Revised and updated to reflect developments since publication of the previous edition. New chapters on areas of growing concern including the 3Rs, phenotyping, statistics and experimental design, welfare assessment, legislation, training of people caring for lab animals and euthanasia. All material combined into one volume for ease of reference. This book is published on behalf of UFAW, The Universities Federation for Animal Welfare, with whom we also publish the UFAW Wiley Blackwell Animal Welfare Book Series. This major series of books provides an authoritative source of information on worldwide developments, current thinking and best practice in the field of animal welfare science and technology. Handbook of Stress and the Brain Part 1: The Neurobiology of Stress Thomas Steckler, N.H. Kalin, J.M.H.M. Reul, 2005-02-25. The Handbook of Stress and the Brain focuses on the impact of stressful events on the functioning of the central nervous system, how stress affects molecular and cellular processes in the brain, and in turn how these brain processes determine our perception of and reactivity to stressful challenges acutely and in the long run. Written for a broad scientific audience, the Handbook comprehensively reviews key principles and facts to provide a clear overview of the interdisciplinary field of stress. The work aims to bring together the disciplines of neurobiology, physiology, immunology, psychology, and psychiatry to provide a reference source for both the non-clinical and clinical expert, as well as serving as an introductory text for novices in this field of scientific inquiry. Part 1 addresses basic aspects of the neurobiology of the stress response, including the involvement of neuropeptide, neuroendocrine, and neurotransmitter systems, and its corollaries regarding gene expression and behavioural processes such as cognition, motivation, and emotionality. Provides an overview of recent advances made in stress research. Includes timely discussion of stress and its effect on the immune system. Presents novel treatment strategies targeting brain processes involved in stress processing and coping mechanisms.
