Gold Panning In British Columbia:

Gold Panning in British Columbia Jim Lewis, Susan Campany, 2013-08-25 I want to gold pan I want to strike rich I've been searching for a stream of gold It's these fortunes I never win that keep me searching for a stream of gold And I'm getting old I keep searching for my stream of gold and I'm getting close If those words sound like a common refrain don't despair With this newly compiled and expanded edition of Jim's previous three bestselling gold panning guides to BC in your library you'll know where to find streams of gold all over BC Jim Lewis has been gold panning all across this province and now he's sharing his fortune and spilling the motherlode about which creeks pan out Each creek is well described and accompanied by clear directions and maps In addition to disclosing his most treasured tips and tricks Jim teaches you how to read the river and summarizes the mining history of each region From what time of year to head out what to bring with you and what to watch out for Gold Panning in British Columbia covers the basics and beyond You won't need a rainbow to help you find a pot of gold

Guide to Gold Panning in British Columbia Neville Langrell Barlee, 1972 British Columbia and Yukon Gold Hunters Donald E. Waite, 2015 A look at the 19th century gold rushes in British Columbia and the Yukon Includes archival photographs and hand drawn maps

The Guide to Gold Panning in British Columbia Neville Langrell Barlee, 1972 British Columbia by the Road Ben Bradley, 2017-06-07 In British Columbia by the Road Ben Bradley takes readers on an unprecedented journey through the history of roads highways and motoring in British Columbia's Interior a remote landscape composed of plateaus and interlocking valleys soaring mountains and treacherous passes Challenging the idea that the automobile offered travellers the freedom of the road and a view of unadulterated nature Bradley shows that an array of interested parties boosters businessmen conservationists and public servants manipulated what drivers and passengers could and should view from the road When it came to roads and highways planners and builders had two concerns grading or paving a way through the wilderness and opening pathways to new parks and historic sites They understood that the development of a modern road network would lead to new ways of perceiving BC and its environment

Although cars and roads promised freedom they offered drivers a curated view of the landscape that shaped the province's image in the eyes of residents and visitors alike

Workers, Capital, and the State in British Columbia Rennie Warburton, David Coburn, 2011-11-01 This collection of essays offers a comprehensive examination of the working class experience in British Columbia and contains essential background knowledge for an understanding of contemporary relations between government labour and employees It treats workers' relationship to the province's resource base the economic role of the state the structure of capitalism the labour market and the influence of ethnicity and race on class relations Using different analytical categories and based on primary research the individual studies provide new assessments of the development of capitalist relations of production the way new economic developments changed old and traditional cultures the connection between the demand for labour and the immigration policy the impact of technology on work relations and the various responses of labour to the policies of the state and capital groupings Articles focusing on episodes from the 1870s to the present deal with major staple industries such as the early fur trade fishing mining and forestry and with the struggle of labourers against their employers in communities such as New Westminster and Fraser Mills and in specific sectors such as telecommunications and education Many of the analyses show that ethnicity acts both as a focus of integration and resistance against external forces in the larger society and as a point of division and antagonism internal to the working class The activities of the working class and its relationships to other parts of society are of primary importance in explaining social and economic change in the province and in the country Workers Capital and the State in British Columbia will be of interest to students of class labour and community relations
