Variation and Co-operative Communication Strategies in Air Traffic Control English Eveline Wyss-Bühlmann,2005 The aim of this study is to establish the co operative communication strategies that are used in air traffic control ATC conversations The research deals with the question what kind of co operative communication strategies do pilots and controllers employ in a speech situation with a restricted use of vocabulary which generally does not permit any deviations from standard phraseology The strategies in ATC speech are then compared to those used by second language learners Faerch and Kasper s 1983 taxonomy of communication strategies will serve as a basis for this comparison The author analyses authentic speech samples from various ATC workstations at Zurich Airport and evaluates various aspects of phraseology training of air traffic controllers

Variational Text Linguistics Christoph Schubert,Christina Sanchez-Stockhammer,2016-05-24 Owing to the ever increasing possibilities of communication especially with the advent of modern communication technologies register analysis offers a constantly widening range of research opportunities Still research has mainly concentrated on well established and frequent registers such as newspaper articles while many descriptive and theoretical issues have not yet been sufficiently investigated This volume gives a state of the art insight into register studies and points out emerging trends as well as new directions for future research Furthermore it provides a forum for the description and discussion of registers which have not received an appropriate amount of attention so far In particular it deals with specialized offline and online registers cross register comparison as well as regional contrastive and diachronic register variation In parallel to the new discipline of variational pragmatics this volume aims to foster the discipline of variational text linguistics and to initiate fundamental investigations in this area This field of research provides new insights into the concept of register since it covers both functional and regional types of textual variation

Cognitive Approaches to Specialist Languages Marcin Grygiel,2017-05-11 Specialist languages such as the languages of law business aviation football and politics can be perceived as highly conventionalized semi natural and not fully autonomous communication codes limited to specific and predominantly formal situations A large number of them can be best characterized by subject matter and semantic content but the most important distinctive element in their make up is the frame of context in which they are embedded This volume discusses various ways of approaching the problems associated with the very broad phenomenon of specialist languages by means of the analytical mechanisms and theoretical conceptions developed within the framework of Cognitive Linguistics The volume includes research carried out by world renowned experts in the field

Supporting the Training of Aviation English

Trainers and Assessors Anna P. Borowska, Olena Petrashchuk, 2024-11-12 This volume addresses the importance of training Aviation English trainers and assessors in accordance with the International Civil Aviation Organization's new language requirements. It explains how such a training system works in the aviation context so that the human factors of language could be viewed in synchrony with numerous other factors that impact flight safety. This is a compact and comprehensive text for those who are thinking of becoming Aviation English experts as well as for those who train them. The guidelines presented are ready to be applied at specially tailored courses all over the world as well as being useful for self study. Readers can use this concise publication without having to continually devise supplementary materials. This book supports Aviation English experts' professionalism that is directed at minimising potential misunderstandings of aeronautical communication.

English in Global Aviation Eric Friginal, Elizabeth Mathews, Jennifer Roberts, 2019-11-14 Taking readers step by step through the major issues surrounding the use of English in the global aviation industry, this book provides a clear introduction to turning research into practice in the field of English for Specific Purposes (ESP), specifically Aviation English, and a valuable case study of applied linguistics in action. With both cutting edge research and evidence based practice, the critical role of English in aviation is explored across a variety of contexts including the national and global policies impacting training and language assessment for pilots, air traffic controllers, ground staff and students. English in Global Aviation teaches readers how to apply linguistic research to real world practical settings. The book uses a range of corpus based findings and related research to provide an effective analysis of the language needs of the aviation industry and an extended look at linguistic principles in action. Readers are presented with case studies, transcriptions, radiotelephony and a clear breakdown of the common vocabulary and phrasal patterns of aviation discourse. Students and teachers of both linguistics and aviation will discover the requirements and challenges of successful intercultural communication in this industry as well as insights into how to teach, develop and assess aviation English language courses.

Radiotelephony Manual Civil Aviation Authority, 2014-11-13 Dated November 2014. Twenty first edition incorporating amendments to 13 November 2014 consolidated July 2014. ISBN 9780117928701

Global Aviation English Research Eric Friginal, Malila Prado, Jennifer Roberts, 2024-11-14 Advocating for best practices within aviation English language research, this volume offers deeper insights into the practical, policy based and societal contexts in which International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) language standards are embedded. English is the official language for international pilot, air traffic controller (ATC) communications mandated by the ICAO. It is also the de facto universal common language for all other forms of communication including the language of maintenance technicians and maintenance manuals, aeronautical engineers, cabin crew, ground staff and aviation business professionals. In this book, renowned academic experts and aviation professionals come together to explore a variety of research trends, providing an effective and efficient analysis of the language needs of the aviation industry, its future directions and an extended look at linguistic principles in action. Chapters engage in detail with research data case studies and concrete examples of interactional tasks transactional exchanges and radiotelephony They also examine the common vocabulary and phrasal patterns in aviation discourse required to communicate successfully in various roles and contexts within the aviation industry The result is a meaningful contribution to the global development and improvement of standards of aviation research investigations of the role of language in aviation accidents and research into language as a human factor in aviation communications customer service and intercultural mis communication
