THOMAS W. DUNK

Its A Working Mans Town Male Working Class Culture

R.W. Sandwell

Its A Working Mans Town Male Working Class Culture:

It's a Working Man's Town Thomas William Dunk, 2003 In a valuable addition to the debate on the nature of contemporary working class culture Thomas Dunk shows that the function and meaning of gender ethnicity popular leisure activities and common sense knowledge are intimately linked with the way an individual's experience is structured by class After reviewing the principal theoretical problems relating to the study of working class culture and consciousness Dunk provides a detailed ethnographic analysis of the Boys the male working class subjects of this study Male working class culture he argues contains both the seeds of a radical response to social inequality and a defensive reaction against alternative social practices and ideas In a new forward Dunk contextualizes the original text with regard to the debates about class and masculinity that have occurred since the book was first published

The Body in Qualitative Research John Richardson, Alison Shaw, 2019-05-23 First published in 1998 the three main themes of the book are representation images and symbols which depict the body regulation the social control of bodies and resistance strategies which challenge dominant representation and regulation These themes run through the various chapters which span a wide spectrum of bodily topics The chapters deal not only with major issues such as media images of male and female bodies but also with neglected problems such as workplace bullying unusual settings such as residential institutions for trainee clergy and exotica such as naturism and fetish practices The topics range from the healthy and sporting bodybuilding clubs and rugby culture through to the health problems of Crohn's Disease sufferers and the self harm practices of women in bail hostels Also the book sheds light on the ageing process by including not just young people teenage girls in physical education lessons but also the older and increasingly assertive generation of wrinklies

Making Men, Making History Peter Gossage, Robert Rutherford, 2018-05-01 What has it meant to be a man in Canada Alexander Ross fur trader Percy Nobbs architect fisherman fencer Andy Paull residential school survivor and athlete Yves Charbonneau jazz musician and commune member James black and gay in postwar Windsor Who were these men and how did they identify as masculine Populated with figures both well known and unknown Making Men Making History frames masculinity as a socially and historically constructed category of identity susceptible to variation across time place and social context This examination of historical Canadian masculinities reveals the dissonance between hegemonic ideals of manhood and masculinity and the everyday lives of men and boys The volume showcases some of the best new work in masculinity studies With an introduction that contextualizes the international origins of the field Making Men Making History is the first book to explore these themes entirely in Canadian historical settings

Men and Masculinities in South India Caroline Osella, Filippo Osella, 2006-09-01 Men and Masculinities in South India aims to increase understanding of gender within South Asia and especially South Asian masculinities a topic whose analysis and ethnographising in the region has had a very sketchy beginning and is ripe for more thorough examination is the first comprehensive account of the changing role of men and the construction of masculinity in contemporary Japan. The book moves beyond the stereotype of the Japanese white collar businessman to explore the diversity of identities and experiences that may be found among men in contemporary Japan including those versions of masculinity which are marginalized and subversive. The book makes a significant contribution to our understanding of contemporary Japanese society and identity.

Where is the Field? Laura Hirvi, Hanna Snellman, 2012-11-09. The book sheds light on the experiences of immigrants in different parts of the world and other insightful reflections on the art of carrying out fieldwork in the present day when the task of locating the field seems to present a particular challenge for researchers. This book is of interest to experienced ethnographers working in the discipline of migration studies and also to scholars conducting ethnographic research in other fields.

Yearbook of Transnational History Thomas Adam, 2018-05-31. The Yearbook of Transnational History is dedicated to disseminating pioneering research in the field of transnational history. This inaugural volume provides readers with articles on topics such as soccer, travel, music, and social policy. These articles highlight the movement of ideas, people, policies, and practices across various cultures and societies and explore the relations and connections and spaces created by these movements. These articles make clear that historical phenomena from travel to music cannot be contained and explained within just one national setting. The volume offers further a number of theoretical and methodological articles that provide insights into the concept of transnational history and the approach of intercultural transfer studies. Last but not least, the volume also includes a number of review articles. These review articles provide an examination of books central to teaching transnational history as well as a historiographical exploration of the impact of transnational history on the field of sports history.

A Nation of Immigrants Franca Iacovetta, Paula Draper, Robert Ventresca, 2017-06-22. This collection brings together a wide array of writings on Canadian immigrant history including many highly regarded influential essays. Though most of the chapters have been previously published, the editors have also commissioned original contributions on understudied topics in the field. The readings highlight the social history of immigrants, their pre-migration traditions as well as migration strategies and Canadian experiences, their work and family worlds, and their political, cultural, and community lives. They explore the public display of ethno-religious rituals, race riots, and union protests, the quasi-private worlds of all-male boarding houses and of female domestics toiling in isolated workplaces, and the intrusive power that government and even well-intentioned social reformers have wielded over immigrants deemed dangerous or otherwise in need of supervision. Organized partly chronologically and largely by theme, the topical sections will offer students a glimpse into Canada's complex immigrant past. In order to facilitate classroom discussion, each section contains an introduction that contextualizes the readings and raises some questions for debate. A Nation of Immigrants will be useful both in specialized courses in Canadian immigration history and in courses on broader themes in Canadian history.

West Meets East Catherine L. Wang, David J. Ketchen Jr., Donald D. Bergh, 2012-07-13. Strategic management relies on an array of complex methods drawn from various allied disciplines to examine how managers attempt to lead their firms toward success This book intends to provide a forum for critique commentary and discussion about key methodology issues in the strategic management field Speaking Pittsburghese Barbara Johnstone,2013-12 Explores the history and development of Pittsburghese as a cultural product of talk writing and other forms of social practice

Professional Identities Shirley Ardener,Fiona Moore,2007-08-01 In both professional and academic fields there is increasing interest in the way in which white collar workers engage with institutions and networks which are complex social constructions Covering a wide variety of countries and types of organization this volume examines the diverse ways in which individuals ethnic gender corporate and professional identities interact This book brings together fields often viewed in isolation ethnographies of groups traditionally studied by anthropologists in new organisational contexts and examinations of the role of identity in corporate life opening up new perspectives on central areas of contemporary human activity It will be of great interest to those concerned with practical management of institutions as well as those of us who find ourselves working within them Getting by in Hard Times David Livingstone,Meg Luxton,June Shirley Corman,2001-01-01 Describes the experiences of daily life for predominantly white working class women and men during the period of economic restructuring begun in the 1980s

Industrial Sunset Steven High,2003-12-15 Plant shutdowns in Canada and the United States from 1969 to 1984 led to an ongoing and ravaging industrial decline of the Great Lakes Region Industrial Sunset offers a comparative regional analysis of the economic and cultural devastation caused by the shutdowns and provides an insightful examination of how mill and factory workers on both sides of the border made sense of their own displacement The history of deindustrialization rendered in cultural terms reveals the importance of community and national identifications in how North Americans responded to the problem Based on the plant shutdown stories told by over 130 industrial workers and drawing on extensive archival and published sources and songs and poetry from the time period covered Steve High explores the central issues in the history and contemporary politics of plant closings In so doing this study poses new questions about group identification and solidarity in the face of often dramatic industrial transformation Offenders on Offending Wim Bernasco,2013-01-11 The book addresses the issue of assessing the reliability of information about crime from offenders taking stock of the various methods used to elicit information on offending from offenders and collecting useful information on criminal behaviour

Our Union Jason Russell,2011 The post war period witnessed dramatic changes in the lives of working class families Wages rose working hours were reduced pension plans and state social security measures offered greater protection against unemployment illness and old age the standard of living improved and women and members of immigrant communities entered the labour market in growing numbers Existing studies of the post war period have focused above all on unions at the national and international levels on the post war settlement including the impact of Fordism and on the chiefly economic issues surrounding collective bargaining while relatively scant attention has been paid to the role of the union local in daily working class experience In Our Union Jason Russell argues that the union local as an institution of working class organization was a key agent for the Canadian working class as it sought to create a new place for itself in the decades following World War II Using UAW CAW Local 27 a broad based union in London Ontario as a case study he offers a ground level look at union membership including some of the social and political agendas that informed union activities As he writes in the introduction This book is as much an outgrowth of years of rank and file union activism as it is the result of academic curiosity Drawing on interviews with former members of UAW CAW Local 27 as well as on archival sources Russell offers a narrative that will speak not only to labour historians but to the people about whom they write Beyond the City Limits R.W. Sandwell,2011-11-01 Historians have not usually identified British Columbia as a rural province B C historiography has been dominated by mining logging and fishing and theorized within the context of large scale laissez faire capitalism and economic individualism Silences in the historical record have exacerbated this situation and lent tacit support to the dominance of resource based capitalism as the shaping force in B C history The essays in Beyond the City Limits all published here for the first time decisively break this silence and challenge traditional readings of B C history In this wide ranging collection R W Sandwell draws together a distinguished group of contributors who bring expertise methodologies and theoretical perspectives taken from social and political history environmental studies cultural geography and anthropology They discuss such diverse topics as Aboriginal White settler relations on Vancouver Island pimping and violence in northern BC and the triumph of the coddling moth over Okanagan orchardists to show that a narrow emphasis on resource extraction capitalist labour relations and urban society is simply not broad enough to adequately describe those who populated the province s history By challenging the dominant urban based and overwhelmingly capitalist interpretation of the province s history the provocative essays in Beyond the City Limits expand our understanding of what rural was and what it meant in the history of British Columbia Corporate Wasteland Steven High,David K. Lewis,2010-12-08 A Fascinating Investigation of Industry s Modern Ruins and the Deindustrial Sublime Re-imagining Ukrainian Canadians Jim Mochoruk,James David Mochoruk,Rhonda L. Hinthorpe,2011-01-01 The Canadian Social History Series is devoted to in depth studies of major themes in our history exploring neglected areas in the day to day existence of Canadians The emphasis of this innovative series is on increasing the general appreciation of our past and opening up new areas of study for students and scholars The editor of the series is Gregory S Kealey Provost Professor of History and Vice President Research University of New Brunswick A leading historian of the Canadian working class Dr Kealey was the founding editor of Labour Le Travail Ukrainian immigrants to Canada have often been portrayed in history as sturdy pioneer farmers cultivating the virgin land of the Canadian west The essays in this collection challenge this stereotype by examining the varied experiences of Ukrainian Canadians in their day to day roles as writers intellectuals national organizers working class wage earners and inhabitants of cities and towns Throughout the contributors remain dedicated to promoting the study of ethnic hyphenated

histories as major currents in mainstream Canadian history Topics explored include Ukrainian Canadian radicalism the consequences of the Cold War for Ukrainians both at home and abroad the creation and maintenance of ethnic memories and community discord embodied by pro Nazis Communists and criminals Re Imagining Ukrainian Canadians uses new sources and non traditional methods of analysis to answer unstudied and often controversial questions within the field Collectively the essays challenge the older essentialist definition of what it means to be Ukrainian Canadian Rhonda L Hinthier is the Western Canadian History curator at the Canadian Museum of Civilization Jim Mochoruk is a professor in the Department of History at the University of North Dakota According to Baba Stacey Zembrzycki,2014-04-08 Dreams of steady employment in the mining sector led thousands of Ukrainian immigrants to northern Ontario in the early 1900s As a child Stacey Zembrzycki listened to her baba s stories about Sudbury s small but polarized Ukrainian community and what it was like growing up ethnic during the Depression According to Baba grew out of those stories out of a fledgling historian s desire to capture the experiences of her grandparents generation on paper Eighty two interviews conducted by Stacey and her grandmother laid the groundwork for this insightful and personal social history of Sudbury s Ukrainian community The interviews also brought to light the challenges of doing oral history particularly as Stacey lost authority to her Baba wrestled it back and eventually came to share it By disclosing the hard work that goes into making communities partners in research Zembrzycki offers a new paradigm for writing oral history and for studying the politics of memory Language and a Sense of Place Chris Montgomery,Emma Moore,2017-05-25 This book explores twenty first century approaches to place by bringing together a range of language variation and change research
