Rury, 2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree

Thompson, 2020-07-24 The Curriculum and Evaluation Standards for School Mathematics published by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics in 1989 set forth a broad vision of mathematical content and pedagogy for grades K 12 in the United States These Standards prompted the development of Standards based mathematics curricula What features characterize Standards based curricula How well do such curricula work To answer these questions the editors invited researchers who had investigated the implementation of 12 different Standards based mathematics curricula to describe the effects of these curricula on students learning and achievement and to provide evidence for any claims they made In particular authors were asked to identify content on which performance of students using Standards based materials differed from that of students using more traditional materials and content on which performance of these two groups of students was virtually identical Additionally four scholars not involved with the development of any of the materials were invited to write critical commentaries on the work reported in the other chapters Section I of Standards Based School Mathematics Curricula provides a historical background to place the current curriculum reform efforts in perspective a summary of recent recommendations to reform school mathematics and a discussion of issues that arise when conducting research on student outcomes Sections II III and IV are devoted to research on mathematics curriculum projects for elementary middle and high schools respectively The final section is a commentary by Jeremy Kilpatrick Regents Professor of Mathematics Education at the University of Georgia on the research reported in this book It provides a historical perspective on the use of research to guide mathematics curriculum reform in schools and makes additional recommendations for further research In addition to the references provided at the end of each chapter other references about the Standards based curriculum projects are provided at the end of the book This volume is a valuable resource for all participants in discussions about school mathematics curricula including professors and graduate students
