Early Speeches; Springfield Speech, Cooper Union Speech, Inaugural Addresses, Gettysburg Address, Selected Letters, Lincoln's Lost Speech Abraham Lincoln,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1899 edition Excerpt Springfield Speech June 16 1858 Speech delivered at Springfield Illinois at the close of the Republican State Convention by which Mr Lincoln had been named as their candidate for United States Senator The opening paragraph of this speech was prepared with the most extreme care and probably did more to influence Lincoln s political future than anything he ever wrote His best friends thought it impolitic to utter the sentiment that the government cannot endure permanently half slave and half free For the immediate purpose of that campaign they were right for this paragraph in the opinion of many good judges was the cause of Lincoln s defeat by Douglas But the constant discussion of those sentences in the great series of joint debates with Douglas during the summer and autumn brought Lincoln s views before the whole country and was an important element in his selection as the Republican candidate for the Presidency in 1860 The entire speech read in the light of subsequent history affords remarkable evidence not only of Lincoln s shrewdness as a party leader but of his political wisdom in the highest sense Mr President and Gentlemen of the Convention If we could first know where we are and whither we are tending we could better judge what to do and how to do it We are now far into the fifth year since a policy was initiated with the avowed object and confident promise of putting an end to slavery agitation Under the operation of that policy that agitation has not only not ceased but has constantly augmented In my opinion it will not cease until a crisis shall have been reached and passed A house divided against itself cannot stand I believe this government cannot endure permanently half slave and half     History of the Administration of President Lincoln Henry Jarvis Raymond, 1864
