Making Language Matter Deborah J. Vause, Julie S. Amberg, 2013. Now adopted by over 40 states, the Common Core State Standards provide a clear and consistent framework for public school systems as they develop student learning goals that define the path to readiness for college careers and informed citizenship. While each state is developing its own procedures for adoption of the Standards, individual teachers will continue to hold the ultimate responsibility for devising lesson plans and tailoring instruction to meet these benchmarks. Making Language Matter will help prospective and practicing teachers develop lessons to meet the benchmarks enumerated in the Standards for the English Language Arts categories: language speaking and listening, writing and reading. A timely text for literacy education courses, it explores language topics within these categories and suggests pedagogical approaches and activities for use in 9-12 language arts classrooms. Using a linguistics approach to unify the study of all the language arts, it engages readers in learning how to help students make purposeful language choices essential for both academic and workplace success.

The Study of Speech Processes Victor J. Boucher, 2021-01-21 There has been a longstanding bias in the study of spoken language towards using writing to analyse speech This approach is problematic in that it assumes language to be derived from an autonomous mental capacity to assemble words into sentences while failing to acknowledge culture specific ideas linked to writing Words and sentences are writing constructs that hardly capture the sound making actions involved in spoken language This book brings to light research that has long revealed structures present in all languages but which do not match the writing induced concepts of traditional linguistic analysis It demonstrates that language processes are not physiologically autonomous and that speech structures are structures of spoken language It then illustrates how speech acts can be studied using instrumental records and how multisensory experiences in semantic memory couple to these acts offering a biologically grounded understanding of how spoken language conveys meaning and why it develops only in humans collection is supplemented by the essays gathered in volume two entitled Pragmatics of Semantically Restricted Domains
