forensic field have remained the only large group of autopsy practitioners For most other pathologists the economic situation time constraints and the steadily decreasing autopsy rates have made a career in autopsy pathology unattractive This state of affairs is perpetuated by a lack of interest among many of our young colleagues partly because the teaching of autopsy pathology and autopsy techniques during most residencies is insufficient Numerous articles have been moaned this situation but the trend I fear is irreversible Still autopsies will be requested particularly in complex and difficult situations where the questions remaining after the death of the patient might challenge even experienced autopsy pathologists Under these circumstances this Handbook of Autopsy Practice should meet a particular need by providing the prosecutor with a source of information when it is most required in the autopsy room Handbook of Healthcare Delivery Systems Yuehwern
