

Governing by Network

A large triangular network diagram composed of smaller triangles and nodes. The diagram is a Sierpinski triangle, a fractal that is a self-similar geometric figure. It is constructed by starting with a large equilateral triangle, dividing it into four smaller equilateral triangles, and then removing the central triangle. This process is repeated for each of the three remaining triangles. The diagram is composed of 10 nodes (small circles) and 15 edges (lines connecting the nodes). The nodes are arranged in a triangular pattern: 1 node at the top, 2 nodes in the second row, 3 nodes in the third row, 4 nodes in the fourth row, and 5 nodes in the fifth row. The edges connect the nodes in a way that forms a series of smaller triangles within the larger triangle. The text "The New Shape of the Public Sector" is centered within the diagram.
