the largest Ebola outbreak in history swept across West Africa claiming thousands of lives in Liberia Sierra Leone and Guinea By the middle of 2014 the international community was gripped by hysteria Experts grimly predicted that millions would be infected within months and a huge international control effort was mounted to contain the virus Yet paradoxically by this point the disease was already going into decline in Africa itself So why did outside observers get it so wrong Paul Richards draws on his extensive first hand experience in Sierra Leone to argue that the international community s panicky response failed to take account of local expertise and common sense Crucially Richards shows that the humanitarian response to the disease was most effective in those areas where it supported these initiatives and that it hampered recovery when it ignored or disregarded local knowledge Manual United States.
