The Discursive Construction of Intercultural Understanding in China Wang Xi, 2015-11-11 This book represents an ethnographic study of an International Baccalaureate Diploma Program in a school in mainland China serving Chinese students and staffed by teachers from a variety of origins It offers in depth descriptions of the way in which students teachers and managers interact and communicate with one another in a variety of school activities Through the communication process cultural experiences and understandings are negotiated constantly among school participants The ethnographic study also has a critical intention Going beyond description the author discusses the extent to which networks of social relationships in the case are imbued by asymmetries in power and how this leads to people s inability unwillingness and unawareness to interact with those from different cultural backgrounds As research findings reveal where the construction of meaning is less equally available to each participant prejudice and exclusiveness are more likely to be assumed impeding individuals intercultural learning The key is to empower those less privileged giving them legitimacy to come to voice in an institutional context on the one hand and protecting their reflections on hegemonic discourse meticulously on the other hand Since the research explores the complexities and subtleties of the communication process that are bound to particular contexts like most ethnographic studies it aims at adding a body of experience and humanistic understanding of cultures rather than testing theories Although the IB Program being studied can hardly be representative of the overall development of international education in China the detailed description of contextual issues of the case and the research procedures could facilitate the readers to vicariously experience these events thus they can make their own decisions about the transferability of the research to their own unique situations

Education ,1996-10 Conversations with memorable personalities Amos Malupenga,2024-05-21 After reviewing just part of this book s contents Rex Mudenda a risk management professional and Lusaka based avid reader of political science literature states This book is loaded There is usually no such a cocktail of prominent personalities covered in one book I kept on salivating on the featured names under the Conversations section The book has captured a good slice of Zambia s political story Mulenga Kapwepwe a prolific Zambian author states A page turning thriller of historical social and political value Each prominent personality comes alive through Amos Malupenga s compelling narrative allowing us rare glimpses into their personal experiences and connections to pivotal events that have impacted and coloured our fascinating national story The above is an apt description of this book's contents. They are as intriguing as they are gripping. Because of the cocktail of the personalities featured, one can safely say these are several books in one. On the basis of these conversations with most of the political figures, the author has taken the liberty to draw a parallel between democracy and theocracy. In so doing, the author concludes that from the beginning of human history, even the best human governments, democracies, have failed to solve mankind's serious problems because of bad leadership owing to the inherent imperfection as a result of sin. The bad leadership is increasingly proving to be one of the root causes of all evil in human societies across the entire inhabited earth. Consequently, the author asserts that theocracy is the panacea, the universal cure, the perfect solution and sovereign remedy to mankind's problems, be they big or small.
