Production of Disaster and Recovery in Post-Earthquake Haiti Juliana Svistova, Loretta Pyles, 2018-02-21 Natural disasters have long been seen as naturally generated events but as scientific technological and social knowledge of disasters has become more sophisticated the part that people and systems play in disaster events has become more apparent Production of Disaster and Recovery in Post Earthquake Haiti demonstrates how social processes impact disasters as they unfold through the distribution of power and resources the use of discourses and images of disaster and the economic and social systems and relations which underlie affected communities The authors show how these processes played out in post earthquake Haiti to set in motion the mechanics of the disaster industrial complex to re produce disasters and recovery rather than bring sustainable change The book reveals that disaster and recovery rhetoric helped create fertile conditions for neoliberal disaster governance militarized and digital humanitarianism non profiteering and disaster opportunism to flourish while further disenfranchising marginalized populations However the Haiti earthquake as is the case with all disaster sites was ripe with mutual aid community building and collective action all of which further local resilience The authors seek to re construct dominant discourses policies and practices to advance equitable participatory partnerships with local community actors and propose a praxis for a people's recovery as an action oriented framework for resisting the transnational disaster industrial machinery The authors argue for new synergies in policymaking and program development that can respond to emergencies and plan for true long term sustainable development after disasters that focuses as much on humans and the natural world as it does on economic progress Production of Disaster and Recovery in Post Earthquake Haiti will be of great interest to students and scholars of disaster studies humanitarian studies development studies Haitian studies geography and environmental studies as well as to non governmental organizations humanitarians and policymakers Disruptive Technology and Digital Transformation for Business and Government Sandhu, Kamaljeet, 2021-05-07 With the far reaching global impact of the COVID 19 pandemic the demand and the necessity for digital enterprise transformation have accelerated exponentially Management and strategies for the adoption and wider usage of newer digital technologies for the transformation of an enterprise through digital tools such as real time video communications have shown that people no longer need to be required to be physically present in the same place rather they can be geographically dispersed Technologies such as artificial intelligence cloud computing digital banking and cloud data have taken over tasks that were initially done by human hands and have increased both the automation and efficiency of tasks and the accessibility of information and services Inclusion of all these newer technologies has shown the fast pace at which the digital enterprise transformation is rapidly evolving and how new ecosystems are reshaping the digital enterprise model Disruptive Technology and Digital Transformation for Business and Government presents interesting research on digital enterprise transformation at different stages and across different settings within government and industry along with key issues and deeper insights on the core problems and developing solutions and recommendations for digital enterprise transformation The chapters examine the three core leaders of transformation the people such as managers employees and customers the digital technology such as artificial intelligence and robotics and the digital enterprise including the products and services being transformed They unravel the underlying process for management and strategies to fully incorporate new digital tools and technologies across all aspects of an enterprise undergoing transformation This book is ideally intended for managers executives IT consultants business professionals government officials researchers students practitioners stakeholders academicians and anyone else looking to learn about new developments in digital enterprise transformation of business systems from a global perspective business issues are reflected in engineering education curricula and for what purpose Is there a limit to the degree of business hybridization in engineering degree programs and if so what would be the criterion for its definition Is there a place in engineering education curricula for reflective critique of assumptions related to business and economic thinking One ideal of management and control comes to the fore as the Anthropocene the world transformed into an engineered artefact which includes human existence The volume raises the question as to how engineering and business together should be considered given the fact that the current engineering business nexus remains embedded within an economic model of continual growth By addressing macro level issues such as energy policy sustainable development globalization and social justice this study will both help create awareness and stimulate development of self knowledge among practitioners educators and students thereby ultimately addressing the need for better informed citizens to safeguard planet Earth as a human life supporting system
