Paulus Hector Mair's Ars Athletica Volume 2 Paulus Hector Mair, 2024-12-31 To those who study the physical culture of arms in medieval Europe the German Fechtbücher treatises on combat arts are among the most important surviving documentary sources no other region in Europe produced such an extensive body of writings on the techniques of medieval combat Among these and indeed among the martial arts treatises produced by any culture the massive compendia commissioned by the scholar swordsman Paulus Hector Mair 1517-1579 stands out as uniquely ambitious and monumental The text survives in three manuscript copies each consisting of two volumes with each manuscript running to approximately 1200 pages and includes about 17 weapon forms depending on how one counts them from two-handed sword to rapier armoured combat to sickle and scythe each form consists of anywhere from 8 to 136 lavishly illustrated techniques in many cases followed by one or more seminal texts on the form The various weapon forms are mutually integrated with each other in techniques and vocabulary and collectively offer an enormous volume of interpretable material The combination of text and image in the illustrated techniques offers obvious advantages to the understanding of a physical practice and Mair is unique among the German masters in systematically giving instructions to both combatants so that as one learns how to perform a technique they also learn how to counter it Lastly one of the most important features of the Ars Athletica is the Latin translation which serves as something of a Rosetta stone for interpreting the vocabulary of these long lost martial arts In this series Dr Jeffrey Forgeng translator of the equally seminal Fechtbuecher of Joachim Meyer and Hans Leckuchner has compiled a team of translator practitioners to tackle Mairs opus Over a decade of work has gone into transcribing translating and annotating the Ars Athletica Treatise on the Martial Arts presenting both the original German and Latin as well as a modern English translation Volume Two of this series presents the Dusack a sporting version of the older Langesmesser long knife a single edged utility sword characteristic of the German speaking areas of Europe Made sometimes of wood sometimes of leather occasionally of steel the Dusack was the training weapon for all single handed swords Mairs 44 Dusack sequences contained herein represent one of the earliest surviving treatises on this weapon previous texts tend to focus on the Messer and readers will find Mair ends this section by including his own redaction and treatment of some of the most famous Messer texts of the previous century

Martial Arts of the World Thomas A. Green, Joseph R. Svinth, 2010-06-11 This book is the most comprehensive and authoritative reference ever published on the wide range of martial arts disciplines practiced in cultures around the world

ABC CLIO's Martial Arts of the World: An Encyclopedia of History and Innovation is the most authoritative reference ever published on combat disciplines from around the world and across history. Coverage includes Shaolin monks jousting knights, Roman gladiators, Westerner gunfighters, samurai warriors, and heavyweight boxers. These iconic figures and many more are featured in this title, as well as representatives of less well-known but no less fascinating systems, all vividly characterized by expert contributors from around the world who are themselves martial arts practitioners. Martial Arts of the World comprises 120 entries in two volumes. The first volume is organized geographically to explore the historic development of martial arts styles in Asia, Africa, Europe, and the Americas. The second volume looks at martial arts thematically, with coverage of belief systems, modern martial arts competitions, and a wide range of such topics as folklore, women in martial arts, martial arts and the military, and martial arts and the media.

Fighting with the German Longsword -- Revised and Expanded Edition
Christian Tobler, 2015-11-15

Recorded over six centuries ago, the teachings of the 14th-century Master at Arms Johannes Liechtenauer have been given new life by a world-wide community of modern swordsmen and women fascinated by the elegance, efficiency, and depth of his unique martial art. Christian Henry Tobler was one of the pioneers in reviving the medieval Master's art, creating the first published syllabus for training with the two-handed longsword back in 2004. This fully rewritten, revised, and expanded edition brings to bear a decade of refinement, creating a definitive how-to guide for students. Containing a short historical overview of the art, students are taught stance, footwork, methods for gripping the sword, and step-by-step instructions for executing the core techniques of the Liechtenauer tradition. Additional chapters introduce students to wrestling, spear, and armoured combat, demonstrating the art's depth and breadth. Heavily photo-illustrated, the book also makes use of decision trees and training drills to aid in learning. Used as a complete self-contained course or a primer for studying the original medieval works themselves, this unique book will be invaluable to martial artists, reenactors, medieval historians, or anyone who has ever wondered how knights fought.

Lance, Spear, Sword, and Messer
Christian Henry Tobler, 2022-03-31

The 14th century, a paradoxical time of world-shattering plague, the Hundred Years War, the Peasants' Revolt, but also literary and artistic innovation, formed the basis of the Renaissance. In the later years of this turbulent time, a shadowy figure named Johannes Liechtenauer systematized lessons for swordsmanship, wrestling, armoured, and mounted combat. Recorded in cryptic rhyming verses, it fell to masters of the 15th and 16th century to record, clarify, and expand the grandmaster's instructions in an extensive body of fencing manuals. As the world of the knight receded into history, these texts, many extensively and beautifully illustrated, were forgotten by all but German language antiquarians and fencing historians until the last decade of the 20th century, when they were rediscovered by a new audience of martial artists and historians. In Lance, Spear, Sword, and Messer, Christian Tobler makes a deep dive into these fighting traditions, creating a rich anthology that has extensive instructional material on topics as diverse as the two-handed sword, spear, poleaxe, wrestling, and the use of long shields, combined with thought-provoking analysis and historical commentary that will occupy the mind and challenge the preconceptions of long time students of medieval German martial arts Finally the martial career in arms and in the literature of arms of the famed Emperor Maximilian I often called the Last Knight who was himself a devoted student of the tradition serves as a capstone of this collection much as his literary output including a planned but unwritten fight book did in his own lifetime at the waning of the Middle Ages and start of the Northern Renaissance

Medieval Warrior Cultures of Europe and Japan: Body, Mind, Sword Michael DeMarco, 2015-11-17 There are similarities and differences between the European and Japanese medieval warrior traditions that reflect the social evolutions within those cultures Over the years publishing the Journal of Asian Martial Arts we published articles that presented the main themes found in this unique area of comparative studies The most important of these writings are assembled in this anthology for your convenience Chapters 1 and 2 are by Dr Willy Pieter a leading scholar with a thorough grasp of European and Japanese martial art traditions His first chapter examines the feudal system and how aspects of social organization helped form the warrior ethic resulting in a mix of scientific and intuitive elements In the second chapter Dr Pieter illustrates how the perception of the human body and mind are culturally different in the East and West Westerners have a long tradition of dualism which separates the body and mind while the Eastern approach has been wholistic The author discusses scientific and medical histories for insight particularly Chinese and European influences on Japan In the third chapter John Michael Greer presents the esoteric side of a European sword tradition as found in the writings of Dutch fencing master Gerard Thibault ca 1574 1627 He notes that Asian and Western combat systems have been understood in sharply different ways over the last century or so Asian combatives came to be associated with Eastern spiritual traditions and seemed to be very different than any Western combative system However this short chapter shows that there is actually much in common In the final chapter Matthew Galas compares and contrasts the sword arts in Germany with the classical Japanese martial traditions The period covered by this inquiry reaches from approximately 1350 until 1600 The focus is on general principles and combat philosophy The study reveals that German sword techniques were as effective as their counterparts in feudal Japan The content in this anthology is useful for anyone interested in either or both European and Japanese martial art traditions exemplified during their medieval periods Enjoy reading this special anthology dedicated to two leading warrior traditions

The Medieval Dagger Guy Windsor, 2021-05-05 In Mastering the Art of Arms Volume One The Medieval Dagger Guy Windsor presents a complete guide to the principles and practice of Italian dagger combat as set down in Il Fior di Battaglia a manuscript written in 1410 Readers are guided step by step through the process of mastering this six hundred year old art from choosing a dagger to striking with it from guard positions to steps and turns from disarms to locks and takedowns from safe falling practice to formal drills and finally pressure testing their skills with sparring Both a primer on the art and a methodology for ongoing training this book will give the complete novice a solid starting point while providing useful drills and ideas for advanced martial artists Those who study other traditional knife arts and modern military combatives will find
