International Human Rights Law and Crimes Against Women in Turkey Ayşe Güneş, 2020-12-20 This book evaluates the effectiveness of current international human rights law and in particular the recent Istanbul Convention in eradicating so called honour killings in Turkey So called honour killings have become an issue of concern for the international community In Turkey in particular the practice still exists despite the adoption of the relevant human rights instruments The book argues that the improvement of the status of women in Turkey in accordance with gender equality as well as the application of the principle of state due diligence both requirements of the Istanbul Convention and international human rights law are fundamental means towards eradicating the killing of women in the name of honour Using feminist approaches in particular the intersectionality approach the study looks at the application of such standards as well as the current obstacles Through such a lens the study discusses the strengths and weaknesses of the Turkish Constitution Turkish Civil Code Turkish Penal Code and Law to Protect Family and Prevent Violence Against Women and questions the judicial approach to the implementation of the women s right to life It identifies the lacunae in the Turkish legislation that allow inadequate legal protection for women and the inconsistency of the judicial approach to the definition of the so called honour killings in the judgements The study then recommends some concrete amendments to the relevant legal provisions in order to better reflect the international framework and the feminist approaches The book will be a valuable resource for academics researchers and policy makers in the areas of international human rights law and feminist legal theory

Disability and Child Sexual Abuse Martina Higgins,John Swain,2010 Disability and Child Sexual Abuse examines the ways in which society marginalises institutionalises and places disabled children in situations of unacceptable risk and how as evidenced in the survivors narratives patterns of service delivery can contribute to the problem Based on the accounts of seven disabled individuals who were sexually abused in childhood the book highlights a wide range of pertinent issues Through case vignettes and empirical research the authors ask practitioners to scrutinise their current professional practice exploring participants experiences of hospitalisation education systems and local authorities They consider the issue of who abuses and why and highlight issues relating to the complexities involved in revisiting past experiences and confronting unwarranted and unwanted feelings of responsibility The difficulty of recounting the abuse narrative is also examined within the research context This book will be relevant for professionals and students in the social health and education services such as social workers teachers and counsellors It will also offer insights for those seeking a less disablist society including disabled people themselves

WHO guideline on self-care interventions for health and well-being World Health Organization,2021-07-31 Self care interventions are among the most promising and exciting new approaches to improve health and well being both from a health systems perspective and for people who use these interventions The World Health Organization WHO uses the following working definition of self care Self care is the ability of individuals families and communities to promote health prevent disease maintain health and cope with illness and disability with or without the support of a health worker The scope of self care as described in this definition includes health promotion disease prevention and control self medication providing care to dependent persons seeking hospital specialist primary care if necessary and rehabilitation including palliative care It includes a range of self care modes and approaches While this is a broad definition that includes many activities it is important for health policy to recognize the importance of self care especially where it intersects with health systems and health professionals Worldwide an estimated shortage of 18 million health workers is anticipated by 2030 a record 130 million people are currently in need of humanitarian assistance and disease outbreaks are a constant global threat At least

400 million people worldwide lack access to the most essential health services and every year 100 million people are plunged into poverty because they have to pay for health care out of their own pockets There is an urgent need to find innovative strategies that go beyond the conventional health sector response While self care is not a new term or concept self care interventions have the potential to increase choice when they are accessible and affordable and they can also provide more opportunities for individuals to make informed decisions regarding their health and health care In humanitarian settings for example due to lack of or limited health infrastructure and medical services in the crisis affected areas self care could play an important role to improve health related outcomes Self care also builds upon existing movements such as task sharing which are powerful strategies to support health systems WHO guideline on self-care interventions for health and well-being, 2022 revision World Health Organization,2022-06-17 A global shortage of an estimated 18 million health workers is anticipated by 2030 a record 130 million people are in need of humanitarian assistance and there is the global threat of pandemics such as COVID 19 At least 400 million people worldwide lack access to the most essential health services and every year 100 million people are plunged into poverty because they have to pay for healthcare out of their own pockets There is therefore an urgent need to find innovative strategies that go beyond the conventional health sector response These interventions are also relevant for all three areas of the Thirteenth General Programme of Work of the World Health Organization WHO recommends self care interventions for every country and economic setting as critical components on the path to reaching universal health coverage UHC promoting health keeping the world safe and serving the vulnerable

Handbook of Disability Marcia H. Rioux,Alexis Buettgen,Ezra Zubrow,José Viera,2024-04-03 This important reference work maps the terrain of disability across the world by providing an overview of issues concerns and developments in the domains of society culture medicine law policy justice education economics and science and technology It is a truly inclusive volume bringing together perspectives from researchers activists professionals service providers international development experts and policymakers based in the global North and South and it particularly focuses on the voices of the principal stakeholders disabled persons themselves Working from an interdisciplinary matrix this book reviews historical developments contemporary practices and policies It addresses hitherto uncharted areas in the disability discourse that will be significant in the years to come In the modern world the social and medical responses to disability have been separation segregation and incarceration of disabled people These responses are reflected in practices of special education building of asylums medical classifications and sheltered employment Current thinking on disability is based on the need to overcome such segregation through the enactment of human rights and socially just programmes policies and laws such as inclusive education affirmative action reasonable accommodation and supported decision making This book explores The evolution of the concept of disability over space and time and identifies approaches to disability debility equality and equity Broad trends in research on disability across the world New directions in work on disability The emergence of a global disability movement and its etiology Intersections of disability with other demographic variables like gender race caste and age and Historical and socio economic interfaces with colonialism globalization and social development Spread over 14 sections and spanning more than 80 chapters this volume is the most comprehensive up to date reference work available on the subject Disease Control Priorities, Third Edition (Volume 4) Vikram Patel, Dan Chisholm, Tarun Dua, Ramanan Laxminarayan, Mari'a Lena Medina-Mora, Theo Vos, 2016-03-10 Mental neurological and substance use disorders are common highly disabling and associated with significant premature mortality The impact of these disorders on the social and economic well being of individuals families and societies is large growing and underestimated Despite this burden these disorders have been systematically neglected particularly in low and middle income countries with pitifully small contributions to scaling up cost effective prevention and treatment strategies Systematically compiling the substantial existing knowledge to address this inequity is the central goal of this volume This evidence base can help policy makers in resource constrained settings as they prioritize programs and interventions to address these disorders Consolidated Guideline on Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights of Women Living with HIV World Health Organization, 2017-02-20 The starting point for this guideline is the point at which a woman has learnt that she is living with HIV and it therefore covers key issues for providing comprehensive sexual and reproductive health and rights related services and support for women living with HIV As women living with HIV face unique challenges and human rights violations related to their sexuality and reproduction within their families and communities as well as from the health care institutions where they seek care particular emphasis is placed on the creation of an enabling environment to support more effective health interventions and better health outcomes This guideline is meant to help countries to more effectively and efficiently plan develop and monitor programmes and services that promote gender equality and human rights and hence are more acceptable and appropriate for women living with HIV taking into account the national and local epidemiological context It discusses implementation issues that health interventions and service delivery must address to achieve gender equality and support human rights Sexual Harassment and the Law in Africa Furaha-Joy Sekai Saungweme, Carol Chi Ngang, Graham Towl, 2024-03-19 Written by a team of experts from legal forensic and policy backgrounds this book presents new research into sexual violence and harassment across Africa This first of its kind book foregrounds the work of African scholars and presents careful research analysis and case studies that consider sexual harassment from legal socio economic and cultural realities It highlights the importance of laws around sexual harassment in Africa the intersectional challenges it poses to women in the workplace and the role of the feminist movement in Africa to hold perpetrators accountable and give voice to survivors of sexual harassment The book forms part of a broader African driven research initiative on sexual harassment and the law and is written in partnership with the Africa End Sexual Harassment Initiative AESHI It also explores the need to focus on best practice benchmarks for Africa and also learning from developments in Africa Timely and relevant

the book will be of great interest to legal and policy academic scholars professionals and activists working in the fields of gender policy forensic psychology and NGOs It will also be useful reading for postgraduate students of law gender studies political science and African studies
