Governing Death And Loss Governing Death And Loss:

Governing Death and Loss Stephen Conway, 2011 Political economic social cultural and technological changes have led to profound transformations in the ways that death and loss are perceived and managed in contemporary society Over the last few decades the long term shift to chronic illness as a major causal factor has significantly increased the time scale of dying Most people die in institutions and care is typically medical Many communities and ordinary citizens now relinquish control and involvement to experts in the last stages of life However at global and local levels new institutional arrangements are emerging to govern the changing face of death and a new model is being developed to counter claims of the creeping medicalisation of death and dying Emphasising the international context of the issues involved this book illustrates the interlinking nature of society death and loss and gives examples of governance that promotes the empowerment participation and the increasing need for the involvement of ordinary people and communities in differing social and cultural contexts All chapters are written at an accessible level and will appeal to a wide readership Part 1 of the book provides a sociological understanding of the governance of death and loss in international and historical contexts and the implications for practice Part 2 provides examples of good practice drawing upon a sociological understanding Improving Regulatory

Governance Trends, Practices and the Way Forward OECD, Korea Development Institute, 2017-09-05 Jointly developed by the OECD and the Korean Development Institute this report presents cutting edge thinking in how to facilitate good regulatory design and implementation Materialities of Passing Peter Bjerregaard, Anders Emil Rasmussen, Tim Flohr Sørensen, 2016-03-17 Passing is a common euphemism for the death of a person as he or she is said to pass away or pass on This open ended saying has at its heart a notion of transformation from one state to another which in turn grants the possibility of grasping or approximating the passage of time and the materiality of death and decay This book begins with the idea that since all material things whether animals human beings objects or buildings undergo some form of passing then the specific transformation in these passages and the materiality actively given to it can offer us a grasp of otherwise precarious temporalities It examines how human beings strive to relate to the temporal dimension of death and decay by giving new shape and direction to being and by examining its natural transformations Focusing on the materiality of passing and thereby the relationship between embodiment temporality and death Materialities of Passing offers rich case studies from Europe Papua New Guinea South Africa and the Russian Far East for exploring the material spatial and directional aspects of the very interface between life and death As such it will appeal to scholars of anthropology death studies archaeology philosophy and cultural studies Grief, Gender, and Identity in the Middle Ages, 2021-12-20 This edited collection examines the ways in which medieval grief is both troubled and troubling troubled in its representation troubling to categories such as gender identity hierarchy theology and history among others Investigating various instantiations of grief sorrow sadness and mourning weeping and lamentation spiritual and theological disorientation and confusion keening and the drinking of blood and grief madness through a number of theoretical lenses including feminist gender and queer theories as well as philosophical sociological and historical approaches to emotion the collected essays move beyond simply describing how men and women grieve in the Middle Ages and begin interrogating the ways grief intersects with and shapes gender identity Contributors are Kim Bergqvist Jim Casey Danielle Marie Cudmore Marjorie Housley Erin I Mann Inna Matyushina Drew Maxwell Kristen Mills Jeffery G Stoyanoff Lee Templeton and Kisha G Tracy

Governing Death, Making Persons Huwy-min Lucia Liu, 2023-01-15 Governing Death Making Persons tells the story of how economic reforms and changes in the management of death in China have affected the governance of persons The Chinese Communist Party has sought to channel the funeral industry and death rituals into vehicles for reshaping people into modern citizens and subjects Since the Reform and Opening period and the marketization of state funeral parlors the Party has promoted personalized funerals in the hope of promoting a market oriented and individualistic ethos However things have not gone as planned Huwy min Lucia Liu writes about the funerals she witnessed and the life stories of two kinds of funeral workers state workers who are quasi government officials and semilegal private funeral brokers She shows that end of life commemoration in urban China today is characterized by the resilience of social conventions and not a shift toward market economy individualization Rather than seeing a rise of individualism and the decline of a socialist self Liu sees the durability of socialist religious communal and relational ideas of self woven together through creative ritual framings in spite of their contradictions

Regulating Emotions Marie Vandekerckhove, Christian von Scheve, Sven Ismer, Susanne Jung, Stefanie Kronast, 2009-03-16 Regulating Emotions Culture Social Necessity and Biological Inheritance brings together distinguished scholars from disciplines as diverse as psychology sociology anthropology neuroscience and psychotherapy to examine the science of regulating emotions Contains 13 original articles written in an accessible style Examines how social and cultural aspects of emotion regulation interact with regulatory processes on the biological and psychological level Highlights the role of social and cultural requirements in the adaptive regulation of emotion Will stimulate further theorizing and research across many disciplines and will be essential reading for students researchers and scholars in the field

That Unknown Country; Or, What Living Men Believe Concerning Punishment After Death, 1891 Ruling Case Law, 1929 How States Die Douglas Lemke, 2025 When states die there are massive consequences for neighboring states and sometimes for the entire international system Somalia's death in 1991 created a safe haven for criminal non state actors and has unsettled the Horn of Africa for decades When the Iraqi state was dismantled in 2003 a similar set of consequences plagued the Middle East and the international system more broadly In How States Die Douglas Lemke provides a rigorous analysis of this phenomenon by reconceptualizing the definitions of the state and state death A state exists according to Lemke whenever a set of state like political entities exercise control over a populated territory This includes both sovereign states and territorial contenders which lack formal diplomatic recognition Conceiving statehood in this way vastly increases the population of states that have experienced state death which casts new light on the entire phenomenon This increased range not only expands the list of ways states can die it also provides insights into whether diplomatic recognition is associated with longer life and shows that state strength is not related to state death Similarly in contrast to the conventional wisdom victories in conflict do not coincide with longer state survival State death is one of the central questions within international relations and Lemke's reformulation of what a state is will transform our understanding of how and why these deaths happen

Grief And Rituals Victor Healey, 2025-01-08 Grief and Rituals explores the universal human experience of loss through the lens of cultural practices examining how different societies across time and geography have developed structured responses to death This comprehensive work delves into the intricate relationship between mourning customs and human healing demonstrating how ritualized grieving serves both individual and communal needs through carefully documented practices from over 200 cultures worldwide The book uniquely bridges ancient and modern approaches to grief from Indigenous American death rites to contemporary digital memorialization Through a masterful combination of anthropological research psychological studies and sociological data it reveals how economic systems technology and cultural shifts have transformed traditional mourning practices while highlighting the enduring human need for structured responses to loss Particularly fascinating is the examination of how industrialization and globalization have influenced funeral customs even as ancient ritualistic elements persist in modern ceremonies The work progresses methodically through three main sections beginning with anthropological foundations of death rituals moving to modern Western approaches and concluding with practical insights for creating meaningful contemporary ceremonies Written in an accessible yet scholarly style it serves both academic researchers and practitioners in death care professions offering valuable insights into how various cultures create meaning through mourning while maintaining cultural sensitivity throughout its analysis The book's interdisciplinary approach makes it an invaluable resource for understanding the complex intersections of grief ritual and human experience

Dying in a Transhumanist and Posthuman Society Panagiotis Pentaris, 2021-11-25 Exploring both the intrapersonal moral and interpersonal ethical nature of death and dying in the context of their development philosophical Dying in a Transhumanist and Posthuman Society shows how death and dying have been and will continue to be governed in any given society Drawing on transhumanism and discourses about posthumanity life prolongation and digital life the book analyses death dying and grief via the governance of dying It states that the bio medical dimensions of our understanding of death and dying have predominated not only the discourses about death in society and the care of the dying but their policy and practice as well It seeks to provoke thinking beyond the benefits of technology and within the confinements of the world transhumanists describe This book is written for all who have an interest in thanatology i.e. death studies but will be useful specifically to those investigating the experiences of dying and grieving in contemporary societies wherein technology biology and medicine continuously advance Thus the manuscript will be of interest to researchers in a broad range of areas including health and social care social policy anthropology sociology philosophy cultural studies and of course thanatology
