Dense + Green Thomas Schröpfer, 2015-12-14 The integration of nature in architecture is a key concern of sustainability. However, all too often sustainable design is reduced to improving the energetic performance of buildings and the ornamental application of natural green. Dense Green explores new architectural typologies that emerge from the integration of green components such as sky terraces, vertical parks and green facades in high density buildings. The book describes green strategies in a comparison across different design tasks and climate conditions. In depth case studies on the most relevant building types consistently presented with analytical drawings made exclusively for this book are complemented by expert essays that demonstrate the current paradigm shift in the sustainable urban environment. From the Contents: Dense Green Building Types by Thomas Schröpfer, architect, Singapore University of Technology and Design; Dense Green Building Technology by Atelier Ten, environmental design consultants and building services engineers, New York, NY; Dense Green Landscape Design by Herbert Dreiseitl, landscape architect, Atelier Dreiseitl, Ramboll Liveable Cities Lab, Berlin; Singapore, Portland, OR; Dense Green Botanical Design by Jean Yong, plant eco physiologist, Singapore University of Technology and Design; Dense Green Urbanism by Kees Christiaanse, urban planner, ETH Zurich; 25 in depth case studies from Europe, Asia and the USA; Practice Reports by Foster Partners, WOHA, Ken Yeang, MVRDV and others.

Fundamentals of Integrated Design for Sustainable Building Marian Keeler, Bill Burke, 2015-02-05 Fundamentals of Integrated Design for Sustainable Building offers an introduction to green building concepts as well as design approaches that reduce and can eventually eliminate the need for fossil fuel use in buildings while also conserving materials, maximizing their efficiency, protecting the indoor air from chemical intrusion and reducing the introduction of toxic materials into the environment. It represents a necessary road map to the future designers, builders and planners of a post carbon world. From the Foreword by Ed Mazria: A rich sourcebook covering the breadth of environmental building. Fundamentals of Integrated Design for Sustainable Building introduces the student and practitioner to the history, theory and technology of green building. Using an active learning approach, the concepts of sustainable architecture are explained and reinforced through design problems, research exercises, study questions, team projects and discussion topics. Chapters by specialists in the green movement round out this survey of all the important issues and developments that students and professionals need to know. From history and philosophy to design technologies and practice, this sweeping resource is sure to be referenced until worn out.

Senem Deviren,2017-03-02 Contemporary architecture and the culture it reflects dependent as it is on fossil fuels has contributed to the cause and necessity of a burgeoning green process that emerged over the past half century This text is the first to offer a comprehensive critical history and analysis of the greening of architecture through accumulative reduction of negative environmental effects caused by buildings urban designs and settlements Describing the progressive development of green architecture from 1960 to 2010 it illustrates how it is ever evolving and ameliorated through alterations in form technology materials and use and it examines different places worldwide that represent a diversity of cultural and climatic contexts The book is divided into seven chapters with an overview of the environmental issues and the nature of green architecture in response to them followed by an historic perspective of the pioneering evolution of green technology and architectural integration over the past five decades and finally providing the intransigent and culturally pervasive current examples within a wide range of geographic territories The greening of architecture is seen as an evolutionary process that is informed by significant world events climate change environmental theories movements in architecture technological innovations and seminal works in architecture and planning throughout each decade over the past fifty years This time period is bounded on one end by the awareness of environmental problems beginning in the 1960 s the influential texts by Rachel Carson E F Schumacher Buckminster Fuller and Steward Brand and the impact of the OPEC Oil Embargo of 1973 and on the other end the pervasiveness of the necessary greening of architecture that includes systemic reforms in architectural and urban design land use planning transportation agriculture and energy production found in the 2000 s The greening process moves from remediation to holistic models of architecture Geographical landscapes give a global account of the greening process where some examples are parallel and sympathetic and others are in clear contrast to one another with very individuated approaches Certain events like the Rio Summit in 1992 and Kyoto Protocol in 1997 and themes such as the Hannover Principles in 2000 provide a dynamic ideological critique as well as a formal and technical discussion of the embodied and accumulative content of greening principles in architecture
