International Handbook of Research on Environmental Education Robert B. Stevenson, Michael Brody, Justin Dillon, Arjen E.J. Wals, 2013-05-02 The environment and contested notions of sustainability are increasingly topics of public interest political debate and legislation across the world Environmental education journals now publish research from a wide variety of methodological traditions that show linkages between the environment health development and education The growth in scholarship makes this an opportune time to review and synthesize the knowledge base of the environmental education EE field The purpose of this 51 chapter handbook is not only to illuminate the most important concepts findings and theories that have been developed by EE research but also to critically examine the historical progression of the field its current debates and controversies what is still missing from the EE research agenda and where that agenda might be headed Published for the American Educational Research Association AERA

The Ends of Research Tom Özden-Schilling, 2023-11-17 In The Ends of Research Tom zden Schilling explores the afterlives of several research initiatives that emerged in the wake of the War in the Woods a period of anti logging blockades in Canada in the late twentieth century Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork among neighboring communities of White environmental scientists and First Nations mapmakers in northwest British Columbia zden Schilling examines these researchers lasting investments and the ways they struggle to continue their work long after the loss of government funding He charts their use of planning documents Indigenous territory maps land use plots reports and other documents that help them not only to survive institutional restructuring but to hold on to the practices that they hope will enable future researchers to continue their work He also shows how their lives and aspirations shape and are shaped by decades long battles over resource extraction and Indigenous land claims By focusing on researchers experiences and personal attachments zden Schilling illustrates the complex relationships between researchers and rural histories of conservation environmental conflict resource extraction and the long term legacies of scientific research

The Fat Pedagogy Reader Erin Cameron, Constance Russell, 2016-03-30 Over the past decade concerns about a global obesity epidemic have flourished Public health messages around physical activity fitness and nutrition permeate society despite significant evidence disputing the facts we have come to believe about obesity We live in a culture that privileges thinness and enables weight based oppression often expressed as fat phobia and fat bullying New interdisciplinary fields that problematize obesity have emerged including critical obesity studies critical weight studies and fat studies There also is a small but growing literature examining weight based oppression in educational settings in what has come to be called fat pedagogy The very first book of its kind The Fat Pedagogy Reader brings together an international interdisciplinary roster of respected authors who share heartfelt stories of oppression privilege resistance and action fascinating descriptions of empirical research confessional tales of pedagogical mis adventures and diverse accounts of educational interventions that show promise Taken together the authors illuminate both possibilities and pitfalls for fat pedagogy that will be of interest to scholars educators and social justice activists Concluding with a fat pedagogy manifesto the book lays a solid foundation for this important and exciting new field This book could be adopted in courses in fat studies critical weight studies bodies and embodiment fat pedagogy feminist pedagogy gender and education critical pedagogy social justice education and diversity in education Humour and Environmental Education Constance Russell,Patrick Chandler,Justin Dillon,2024-12-23 This book illustrates how humour can be a powerful tool for environmental education Hailing from eight different countries the authors inquiries are grounded in a range of sites of learning and focus on different comedic forms offering a variety of perspectives on the ways humour features or could feature in environmental education The chapters adopt an array of methodological approaches and theoretical frames drawing not only on environmental education research and humour studies but also scholarship in affect theory antiracist and Indigenous education climate change communication critical pedagogy ecocriticism and language arts education feminist theory human animal relations media studies new materialisms philosophy psychology public pedagogy science education and social movement studies Many of the topics discussed in this volume necessitated multi or interdisciplinary inquiries and pedagogies Delving into humour led the authors to push beyond the boundaries of their own disciplines and for some to form creative collaborations that took them not only into new academic fields but also outside their professions to work with actors cartoonists comedians and game developers This book was originally published as a special issue of Environmental Education Research Promising Practices in Indigenous Teacher Education Paul Whitinui,Carmen Rodriguez de France,Onowa McIvor,2017-10-28 This book provides a comprehensive overview of navigating the on going systemic challenges hardships and problems facing many indigenous teacher education programs today helping to foster a commitment to developing quality indigenous teacher education programs that are sustainable distinctive and excellent However despite a growing cadre of indigenous peoples working in teacher education there is still a noticeable gap between the uptake of what is being taught in conventional teacher education programs and how this translates to what we see student teachers doing in the classroom The often tricky and complex nature of indigenous teacher education programming also means that there are multiple realities approaches and pathways that require greater communication collaboration and cooperation The very nature of this complexity the book suggests requires a strength based and future focused approach built on trust integrity courage and respect for indigeneity as well as an understanding of what it means to be indigenous The examples and experiences presented identify a number of promising practices that work well in current indigenous teacher education programs and beyond By promoting a greater appreciation for the inclusion of culturally relevant practices in teacher education the book aims to breathe new life into the hopes dreams and aspirations of indigenous teacher education programs moving forward New Moral Natures in Tourism Bryan S. R. Grimwood,Kellee Caton,Lisa Cooke,2018-04-17 How do we understand human nature relationships in tourism or determine the consequences of these relationships to be good bad right wrong fair or just What theoretical and philosophical perspectives can usefully orient us in the production and consumption of tourism towards living and enacting the good life with the more than human world This book addresses such questions by investigating relationships between nature and morality in tourism contexts Recognizing that morality much like nature is embedded in histories and landscapes of power the book engages with diverse theoretical and philosophical perspectives to critically review appraise and advance dialogue on the moral dimensions of natures Contributing authors explore the very foundations of how we make sense of nature in tourism and leisure contexts and how we might make sense of it differently The book will be essential reading for researchers students and practitioners grappling with questions about the moral values frameworks or practices best suited to mobilizing tourism natures What will the future of tourism hold in terms of sustainability justice resilience health and well being

Routledge International Handbook of Outdoor Studies Barbara Humberstone, Heather Prince, Karla A.

Henderson, 2015-11-19 The outdoors is a physical and ideological space in which people engage with their environment but it is also an important vehicle for learning and for leisure The Routledge Handbook of Outdoor Studies is the first book to attempt to define and survey the multi disciplinary set of approaches that constitute the broad field of outdoor studies including outdoor recreation outdoor education adventure education environmental studies physical culture studies and leisure studies It reflects upon the often haphazard development of outdoor studies as a discipline critically assesses current knowledge in outdoor studies and identifies further opportunities for future research in this area With a broader sweep than any other book yet published on the topic this handbook traces the philosophical and conceptual contours of the discipline as well as exploring key contemporary topics and debates and identifying important issues in education and professional practice It examines the cultural social and political contexts in which people experience the outdoors including perspectives on outdoor studies from a wide range of countries providing the perfect foundation for any student researcher educator or outdoors practitioner looking to deepen their professional knowledge of the outdoors and our engagement with the world around us

Rural Teacher Education Michael Corbett, Dianne Gereluk, 2020-02-15 This book examines challenges associated with the education of teachers in and for rural places It offers a new perspective with respect to how Canadian educators are shifting the conversation toward a hopeful discourse concerning how educators can foster meaningful rural learning environments which will contribute to building stronger rural communities and regions A central focus of the book is emerging reconceptualization of education place and indigeneity in Canadian education in the wake of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission Though the challenge of addressing rural teaching and learning lies partly in the nuances and complexities of unique places there are also common threads that affect virtually all communities in rural regional and remote educational cultural economic and social geographies Chapters in this collection provide current research in Canadian rural education including examples and stories from the field contributed by teachers administrators and superintendents on the challenges and creative opportunities that they have discovered in their own rural context giving hope and inspiration for what is possible The book will appeal to all readers interested in rural education and teacher education as well as to those concerned with educational inequality and indigenous education sustainable development environmental teaching and social environmental justice Effective Urban Densification Barry Johns, 2024-11-04 The housing crisis confronts two of North America's contemporary urban challenges: affordability and the need to curtail urban sprawl through densification of existing communities. Advancing a novel formula labelled BAAKFIL, this book introduces a new way of thinking about affordability and revitalization of mature neighbourhoods and communities. Beginning with an exploration of the monoculture of homogenous average quality suburban housing stock in North America, subsequent chapters explore the serious issue of land cost, infill zoning and Nimbyism in the context of the mass housing industry. Then bridging the gap between theory and practice, the author introduces a theoretical design approach BAAKFIL as a practical formula for adding affordable residential units in established single family neighbourhoods while respecting their defining features. The final chapters evaluate the efficacy of BAAKFIL as a conceptual model by exploring various test bed sites where the framework is applied. This book will be a valuable resource for practicing architects in the housing domain as well as for planners working in municipalities. It will also appeal to advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students of urban design and architecture.
