The Idea of Home in Law Lorna Fox O'Mahony, James A. Sweeney, 2016-03-03 The Idea of Home in Law Displacement and Dispossession explores an important set of legal and policy issues surrounding the concepts of home and homelessness taking a growing area of legal scholarship into the new arena of human rights and international law The collection considers the ideas concerning home both in the sense of the dwelling place as a special type of property and territorial claims to homeland which underpin many contemporary legal problems by examining a range of contexts where people are displaced or dispossessed from their homes The essays focusing on dispossession consider themes ranging from mortgage and rent arrears in the UK to responses to the foreclosure crisis in the USA and from eviction for the purposes of economic development in South Africa to the exclusion of asylum seekers from the UK's social housing and welfare provision and within the framework of the European Convention on Human Rights The displacement theme meanwhile examines transnational home issues from the experiences of exiles and refugees in areas of conflict to the impact of the broader context of economic social and cultural rights on attempts to protect housing and home through international law At the heart of each essay the contributors experts from across the fields of law policy and housing rights examine the circumstances in which displacement and dispossession take place and reconsider how law and policy respond to such circumstances with a particular focus on the impact of loss of home for the human person At a time of particular and increasing concern about security of tenure and the role of law and policy in protecting people who are vulnerable to forced eviction The Idea of Home in Law presents a bold opportunity to raise questions about the rights and norms associated with housing and home and to generate new insights for scholarship and for national and international policy debates concerning displacement and dispossession

Urban Slums and Circular Economy Synergies in the Global South Seth Asare Okyere, Matthew Abunyewah, Michael Odei Erdiaw-Kwasie, Festival Godwin Boateng, 2024-04-15 This book takes a theoretical and empirical distance from urban slums low income settlements as a threat to environmental sustainability and recast them

as places where environmentally rehabilitative and circular practices occur drawing on the theoretical lens of the circular economy CE is defined as regenerative system that minimizes waste emission and energy leakage by slowing closing and narrowing material and energy loops In principle CE departs from the traditional linear model of take make use dispose As conceived in urban contexts circular cities offer possibilities to regenerate natural systems design out waste and keep products in use While the CE key principles of reduce repair and reuse are essential to the sustainable and inclusive interventions in urban slums there is lack of case studies exploring the role of place and agency especially the slum living CE nexus in global south contexts In inequitable urban transitions a nuanced understanding of the synergies between urban slums and the circular economy is not only theoretically relevant for reconceptualizing the slum in urban sustainability discourses but also exert policy and practice ramifications to decidedly figure out how the urban slum phenomenon can foster the sustainable and inclusive development of marginal areas through contextual and people centered initiatives

National Perspectives on Housing Rights Scott Leckie, 2021-10-18 More than one billion people around the world do not have adequate housing How far does human rights law help to remedy this problem What measures must governments take to protect people against housing rights violations What are the strengths and weaknesses of human rights law in the housing area Is the current law enough or are new laws necessary These and many other questions are addressed in the various chapters contained in National Perspectives on Housing Rights While most coverage of economic social and cultural rights has tended to focus on international standards and principles this book examines the more challenging question of how housing rights are implemented at the national and local level Chapters from recognised housing rights practitioners from Brazil Canada India Kenya Mexico Nigeria Philippines South Africa the US and elsewhere provide some of the first national level legal analyses of the implementation of housing rights standards recognised under international law A foreword by Nelson Mandela and a preface by international legal scholar Professor Philip Alston provide interesting perspectives on the fundamental role of housing rights within the broader human rights field

Housing Finance in Emerging Markets Doris Köhn, J. D. Pischke, 2011-01-21 The growth of urban areas and population in middle and low income countries is a continuing trend Urbanization expands as rural to urban migration offers better income opportunities in cities This trend is both a source of development opportunities and challenges for the housing sector On the one hand housing is a large and growing market and on the other massive slums confirm the poor housing conditions in many developing countries These adverse conditions mirror inadequate housing policies inefficient or absent property registration as well as limits to access to housing finance Provision of affordable housing is therefore an important topic in the fight against poverty This book focuses on solutions that improve the enabling environment for the poor in accessing housing finance It explores how to develop and integrate housing finance into a sustainable financial system for developing countries and offers ways in which low income families can obtain better access to housing finance This book provides a conceptual framework for housing finance development and addresses practical solutions in the provision of housing finance and compares different approaches

Global Apartments Fernando Lara,2009-07-01 As the 20th Century progressed urban housing became quite homogenized throughout the world Apartment buildings in Sao Paulo are very similar to those in Seoul Moscow and even Chicago It is clear that the modernist architectural vocabulary made famous by the so called International style has gone much beyond corporation identity buildings and prevails in the housing sector in most of the urbanized world According to a study supported by the United Nations Habitat ANGEL 2000 residential buildings although varying in size shape and construction materials now take on one of four basic forms the single family house the row house the walk up apartment building and the high rise This book is the result of almost a decade of research on multi family buildings known worldwide as apartments The main goal is to investigate the extent to which those buildings are or are not alike or whether the similarities are more visual than experiential

Room for Development Inter-American Development Bank,2012-05-14 Latin American and Caribbean countries are the most urban in the developing world and have very high home ownership rates However many of the region s inhabitants are still poorly housed This book examines three key contributing issues high housing prices relative to family income lack of access to mortgage credit and high land prices

Homeownership, Renting and Society Sebastian Kohl,2017-04-07 On the eve of the financial crisis the USA was inhabited by almost 70 percent homeownership households in comparison to about 45 percent in Germany Homeownership Renting and Society presents new evidence showing that this homeownership gap already existed between American and German cities around 1900 Existing explanations based on culture government housing policy or typical socio economic factors have difficulties in accounting for these long term cross country differences Using historical case studies on Germany and the USA the book identifies three institutional domains on the supply side of the housing market urban land housing finance and construction that set countries on different housing trajectories and subsequently established differences that were hard to reverse in later periods Further chapters generalize the argument across other OECD Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development countries and extend the explanation to cover historical differences in homeownership ideology and horizontal property institutions This enlightening volume also puts forward path dependence theories in housing studies connects housing with vast urban history and political economy literature and offers comprehensive insights about the case of a tenant s country which contradicts the tendency towards universal homeownership Providing an all new historic institutionalist explanation of the German American homeownership gap this title will be of interest to postgraduate students and scholars interested in fields including Housing Studies Sociology Urban History Political Economy Social Policy and Geography It may also be of interest to those working in Reducing Urban Poverty in the Global South David Satterthwaite, Diana Mitlin, 2013-08-15 Urban areas in the Global South now house most of the world's urban population and are projected to house almost all its increase between now and 2030 There is a growing recognition that the scale of urban poverty has been overlooked and that it is increasing both in numbers and in the proportion of the world's poor population that live and work in urban areas This is the first book to review the effectiveness of different approaches to reducing urban poverty in the Global South It describes and discusses the different ways in which national and local governments international agencies and civil society organizations are seeking to reduce urban poverty Different approaches are explored for instance market approaches welfare rights based approaches and technical professional support The book also considers the roles of clientelism and of social movements Case studies illustrate different approaches and explore their effectiveness Reducing Urban Poverty in the Global South also analyses the poverty reduction strategies developed by organized low income groups especially those living in informal settlements It explains how they and the federations or networks they have formed have demonstrated new approaches that have challenged adverse political relations and negotiated more effective support Local and national governments and international agencies can become far more effective at addressing urban poverty at scale by as is proposed in this book working with and supporting the urban poor and their organizations This book will be an invaluable resource for researchers and postgraduate students in urban development poverty reduction urban geography and for practitioners and organisations working in urban development programmes in the Global South Urbanization and Socio-Economic Development in Africa Steve Kayizzi-Mugerwa,Abebe

Shimeles,Nadège Désirée Yaméogo,2014-05-16 The main goal of this book is to put urbanization and its challenges squarely on Africa s development agenda Planned urbanization can improve living conditions for the majority help in the expansion of the middle class and create conditions for economic transformation However many African cities have developed haphazardly resulting in the decline of public services in slum proliferation and increases in poverty African cities thrive on activities characterized by easy entry and low productivity generally referred to as the informal sector Indeed today some urban dwellers are poorer than their cousins in the countryside In spite of reform attempts many governments have not been able to create an enabling environment with adequate infrastructure and institutions to sustain markets for easy exchange and production This study argues that with careful policies and planning the situation can be changed If the recent natural resource led economic boom that we have seen in many African countries is used for structural reforms and urban renewal African cities could become centers of economic opportunity The challenge for African policymakers is to ensure that urban development is orderly and that the process is inclusive and emphasizes the protection of the environment hence green growth The Economy of Green Cities Richard Simpson,Monika Zimmermann,2012-11-06 This volume bridges the gap between the global promotion of the Green Economy and the manifestation of this new development strategy at the urban level Green cities are an imperative solution not only in meeting global environmental challenges but also in helping to ensure socio economic prosperity at the local level Global Urbanization Eugenie L. Birch,Susan M. Wachter,2011-02-25 For the first time in history the majority of the world s population lives in urban areas Much of this urbanization has been fueled by the rapidly growing cities of the developing world exemplified most dramatically by booming megacities such as Lagos Karachi and Mumbai In the coming years as both the number and scale of cities continue to increase the most important matters of social policy and economic development will necessarily be urban issues Urbanization across the world but especially in Asia and Africa is perhaps the critical issue of the twenty first century Global Urbanization surveys essential dimensions of this growth and begins to formulate a global urban agenda for the next half century Drawing from many disciplines the contributors tackle issues ranging from how cities can keep up with fast growing housing needs to the possibilities for public private partnerships in urban governance Several essays address the role that cutting edge technologies such as GIS software remote sensing and predictive growth models can play in tracking and forecasting urban growth Reflecting the central importance of the Global South to twenty first century urbanism the volume includes case studies and examples from China India Uganda Kenya and Brazil While the challenges posed by large scale urbanization are immense the future of human development requires that we find ways to promote socially inclusive growth environmental sustainability and resilient infrastructure The timely and relevant scholarship assembled in Global Urbanization will be of great interest to scholars and policymakers in demography geography urban studies and international development

Lets delve into the realm of bestselling books, exploring the fascinating narratives that have enthralled audiences this year. Housing Policy Matters A Global Analysis : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This heartfelt tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover expertly weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can prevail. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reid's "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This intriguing historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reid's captivating storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Discover the Magic : Delia Owens' "Where the Crawdads Sing" This captivating coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens crafts a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, captivating readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These bestselling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Paffen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and gripping novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
