Constructing Representations to Learn in Science Russell Tytler, Vaughan Prain, Peter Hubber, Bruce Waldrup, 2013-04-20 Constructing Representations to Learn in Science Current research into student learning in science has shifted attention from the traditional cognitivist perspectives of conceptual change to socio cultural and semiotic perspectives that characterize learning in terms of induction into disciplinary literacy practices This book builds on recent interest in the role of representations in learning to argue for a pedagogical practice based on students actively generating and exploring representations The book describes a sustained inquiry in which the authors worked with primary and secondary teachers of science on key topics identified as problematic in the research literature Data from classroom video teacher interviews and student artifacts were used to develop and validate a set of pedagogical principles and explore student learning and teacher change issues The authors argue the theoretical and practical case for a representational focus The pedagogical approach is illustrated and explored in terms of the role of representation to support quality student learning in science Separate chapters address the implications of this perspective and practice for structuring sequences around different concepts reasoning and inquiry in science models and model based reasoning the nature of concepts and learning teacher change and assessment The authors argue that this representational focus leads to significantly enhanced student learning and has the effect of offering new and productive perspectives and approaches for a number of contemporary strands of thinking in science education including conceptual change inquiry scientific literacy and a focus on the epistemic nature of science Exploring Science ,2008 How Science Works Mark Levesley,Penny Johnson,Steve Gray,2008-03-01 The Number One course for 11 14 year olds has now been fully revised for the new science curriculum

This book explores how teachers can navigate the complex process of managing change within the classroom. The chapters highlight the new challenges that have arisen with the emergence and introduction of educational technology as teachers find themselves having to be responsive to the needs and demands of multiple stakeholders. Traversing a range of conceptual disciplinary and methodological boundaries, the editors and contributors investigate the tensions that impinge on research-based change and how to integrate directed changes into their education system and classroom. Subsequently, this volume argues that posing these questions leads to increased understanding of the possible long-term effects of educational change and how teachers can know whether their solutions are effective.

Critical Religious Education in Practice Christina Easton, Angela Goodman, Andrew Wright, Angela Wright, 2019-04-08

Critical Religious Education in Practice serves as an accessible handbook to help teachers put Critical Religious Education (CRE) into practice. The book offers straightforward guidance unpicking some of the key difficulties that teachers encounter when implementing this high-profile pedagogical approach. In-depth explanations of CRE pedagogy accompanied by detailed lesson plans and activities will give teachers the confidence they need to inspire debate in the classroom, tackling issues as controversial as the authority of the Qur'an and the relationship between science and religion. The lesson plans and schemes of work exemplify CRE in practice and are aimed at empowering teachers to implement CRE pedagogy across their curriculum. Additional chapters cover essential issues such as differentiation, assessment, the importance of subject knowledge, and tips for tackling tricky topics. The accompanying resources, including PowerPoint presentations and worksheets, are available via the book's companion website. Key to developing a positive classroom culture and promoting constructive attitudes towards Religious Education, this text is essential reading for all practising and future teachers of Religious Education in secondary schools.
