of study Marginalized for its radical position that the human races were equal Firmin's lucid and persuasive treatise was decades ahead of its time Arguing that the equality of the races could be demonstrated through a positivist scientific approach Firmin challenged racist writings and the dominant views of the day Translated by Asselin Charles and framed by Carolyn Fluehr Lobban's substantial introduction this rediscovered text is an important contribution to contemporary scholarship in anthropology pan African studies and colonial and postcolonial studies Alfie and Me Carl

Safina, 2023-10-03 A Scientific American Best Staff Read of 2023 Irresistible People A moving account of raising then freeing an orphaned screech owl whose lasting friendship with the author illuminates humanity's relationship with the world When ecologist Carl Safina and his wife Patricia took in a near death baby owl they expected that like other wild orphans they'd rescued she'd be a temporary presence But Alfie's feathers were not growing correctly requiring prolonged care As Alfie grew and gained strength she became a part of the family joining a menagerie of dogs and chickens and making a home for herself in the backyard Carl and Patricia began to realize that the healing was mutual Alfie had been braided into their world and was now pulling them into hers Alfie one can be stuck keeping the faith at home and discover a new world Safina's relationship with an owl made him want to better understand how people have viewed humanity's relationship with nature across cultures and throughout history Interwoven with Safina's keen observations insight and reflections Alfie Me is a work of profound beauties and magical timing harbored within one upended year Displacees and Health: Issues and Challenges. Norvy Paul, 2021-03-17 Displacees and Health Issues and Challenges deals with issues of health and challenges in the life of displaced people of the world This is a collective work of the experts in this field aiming at sketching the life of the displacees either caused by development armed conflict racial conflict or disasters Some of the areas it deals with are Health issues constrains and emerging diseases among refugees Governmental and non governmental steps and challenges to health service delivery Forced migrants or refugees and health issues as a developmental challenge Sustainable development goals and refugees Poverty and health issues Internally displaced people and mental health issues Displacement and stigma Social alienation Social exclusion and marginalization Social work interventions among the displaced people for quality rehabilitations Rehabilitation of displacees and health service delivery challenges Displaced or refugee women children Aged and the vulnerable and health service for quality of life Refugees and health issues responses from local national international bodies or institutions Towards better health and better human living challenges towards reconstruction of displaced or refugees Health in relation to gender vulnerability human rights disability of the displaced Food security in displacement and rehabilitation issues and challenges and Literature and health of the displaced Human Birth Wenda R. Trevathan, 2017-07-05 The story of human evolution has been told hundreds of times each time with a focus that seems most informative of the teller No matter how it is told the primary characters are rarely mothers and infants Darwin argued survival but today we know that reproduction is what evolution is all about Centering on this Trevathan focuses on birth which gives the study of human evolution a crucial new dimension Unique among mammals humans are bipedal The evolution of bipedalism required fundamental changes in the pelvis and resulted in a narrow birth canal Humans are also large brained animals which means that birth is much more challenging for our species than for most other animals The result of this mismatch of large head and narrow pelvis is that women are highly dependent on assistance at birth and their babies are born in an unusually undeveloped state when the brain is still small Human Birth discusses how the birth process has evolved and ways in which human birth differs from birth in all other mammals Human Birth is also concerned with mother infant interaction immediately after birth While working as a midwife trainee Trevathan carefully documented the births of more than one hundred women and recorded maternal and infant behaviors during the first hour after birth She suggests ways in which the interactions served not only to enhance mother infant bonding but also to ensure survival in the evolutionary past With clarity and compelling logic Trevathan argues that modern birth practices often fail to meet evolved needs of women and infants and suggests changes that could lead to better birth experiences This paperback edition includes a new introduction by the author
