

20 things every teacher should do

Listen to their students more than they talk.	Try and understand what their students are thinking when students describe their work.
Gather evidence every day on what every one of their students understands from the day's lesson.	Plan lessons with clear, achievable goals that build toward longer-term goals.
Learn something new every day.	Experiment to see what helps their students learn best.
Become an expert on the different ways of understanding each topic they teach.	Learn how the subject or year they teach is connected to other subjects or years.
Follow the schedule of one of their students for the entire day.	Take notes and reflect on their teaching and their students' learning.
Use a variety of modalities with all of their students so they experience the subject area in different ways.	Ask questions that prompt thinking from all of their students.
Establish and maintain norms and routines in their classroom.	Read research on teaching and learning on a regular basis.
Give feedback to students that is clear, actionable, timely, consistent, and goal-oriented.	Separate feedback from grading.
Collaborate with other teachers to study and improve their practice.	Share what works with other teachers and why they know it works.
Become an expert in the ways students typically understand their subject area or grade level.	Believe that all of their students can achieve success.
