Master In Conflict Resolution:

Mastering Mediation Education Fred Schonewille, Martin Euwema, 2012 Nowadays mediation education is implemented at all levels in society from kindergarten and primary school education peer mediation to university and post graduate master programs The length and intensity varies tremendously from two day courses to two year programs In this respect mediation is comparable to sports or the fine arts One can practice this intuitively and with basic training at grass roots level further develop this at the professional level and become a master in mediation On the professional level mediation is a respected part of the judicial process and the mediator is recognized as a full partner in the process of conflict management and dispute resolution an expert with specific knowledge and skills to assist as a third party To achieve this a high quality education in mediation is essential Otherwise mediation will be seen particularly by other professions and professionals as a soft skills and a secondary service At the professional level how should an education be developed What roles should universities play in mediation education What are the trends and what are the necessary steps to take to further develop this young profession into evidence based practices These questions formed the theme of an international symposium in Utrecht Mastering Mediation Education organized by the Universities of Utrecht and Leuven The mediation topics discussed at the symposium are presented in this book Cultural Encounters and Emergent Practices in Conflict Resolution Capacity-Building Tamra Pearson d'Estrée, Ruth J. Parsons, 2018-05-31 Undoubtedly the most comprehensive analysis of the role of culture and emergent practices in capacity building currently at hand d Estrée and Parsons have produced a commendable amalgamation and scrutiny of local cultural and Indigenous mediation practices in a number of contexts that empower local people while interacting and integrating with Western mediation models in a blend of hybridity The book is beautifully structured and will attract a wide readership including graduate and undergraduate students Sean Byrne Director Arthur V Mauro Centre for Peace Justice and Professor Peace Conflict Studies University of Manitoba Canada Since late 1990s conflict resolution field has recognized the need to integrate culture in its processes This book goes beyond such theoretical recognition and provides empirical evidence and solid concrete cases on how local actors from a wide range of cultural contexts integrated their cultural analysis and tools in their own sustainable conflict resolution processes It also offers an effective set of guidelines and lessons learned for policy makers and peacebuilding practitioners on the need to deepen their reliance on local cultural practices of peace Mohammed Abu Nimer Professor of International Peace and Conflict Resolution School of International Service American University and Founder and Director of the Salam Peacebuilding and Justice Institute in Washington DC USA The evolving identities of communities impacted by deep historical divisions and population migration in the context of life threatening resource shortages present opportunities and challenges for conflict transformation professionals at every level d Estrée and Parsons respond to this challenge with a remarkable collection of stories from around the world that amplify the innovation in the field while capturing its history and complexity It serves as the bridge between mediation and peacebuilding that is so necessary today Prabha Sankaranarayan CEO Mediators Beyond Borders International In this excellent book Tamra Pearson d Estr e and Ruth Parsons and their impressive collection of case study authors have analysed four generations of conflict resolution transformation theory and practice They highlight the diverse ways in which the burgeoning field of conflict resolution theorists and practitioners mirrored the ascendance and now decline of the neo liberal western project First and second generation efforts were based on notions of possessive individualism rational choice theory and a general acceptance of the status quo Culture was ignored or eliminated as were deeper questions of political and social inequality But more importantly there was an unwillingness to consider the power and the wisdom that resided in locality Third and fourth generation conflict transformers on the other hand have engaged these deeper questions and focused more attention on emancipatory creative partnerships social and economic justice co learning and hybridised models flowing from external engagement with local wisdom This is a book that needs to be read by anyone interested in the transformative power of conflict resolution and long term social and political change Kevin P Clements Professor Chair and Foundation Director The National Centre for Peace and Conflict Studies University of Otago New Zealand While waves of scholarship have focused either on the value of presumed universal models or of traditional practices of conflict resolution curiously missing has been the recognition and analysis of the actual intermingling and interacting of western and local cultural practices that have produced new and emergent practices in our global community In this compilation of case studies the authors describe partnerships forged between local practice expertise and bearers of western institutional models to build innovative approaches to mediation and conflict resolution Including stories of these experiences and the resulting hybrid models that emerged the book explores central questions of cultural variation and integration such as the perception of purpose and function of resolution processes attitudes toward conflict arenas and timeframes third party roles barriers to process use as well as how to remain true to culture and context It also examines partnership dynamics and lessons learned for modern cross cultural collaboration Peterson's Graduate contributions covering a myriad of conflict management topics ranging from fundamental issues such as emotional intelligence and cultural differences to cutting edge themes such as political conflicts and mindfulness training. Renowned conflict management scholars and leading practitioners have contributed chapters to this handbook based on their research and their practical experience in the field of conflict management. Many of the authors have influenced the topic of conflict management as it has become both a field of academic study in universities and a necessary leadership skill. The handbook is organized in four sections. The first section covers interpersonal conflict management and focuses on perceptions, conflict styles, emotional intelligence, psychological safety, and change. The second section includes ethnic and cultural issues in organizational conflict management such as microaggressions, ethnicity and religion, and political conflicts. The third section offers methods for managing organizational conflicts including mediation, negotiation, ombudspersons, and conflict coaching. This section also offers guidance on developing an organizational conflict management system and discusses HR's role in managing conflicts. The fourth section introduces chapters on special topics in conflict management such as workplace bullying, gender issues, birth order, personality, human connections, and forgiveness. This handbook is an essential reference for scholars and practitioners. It offers organizational leaders insights into the causes and solutions to organizational conflict management. In addition, it is an excellent textbook for undergraduate and graduate courses in organizational conflict management.

De Gruyter Handbook of Organizational Conflict Management LaVena Wilkin,Yashwant Pathak,2022-09-06 The De Gruyter Handbook of Organizational Conflict Management offers insightful
