

The book cover features a photograph of a pregnant woman with blonde hair, wearing a light blue shirt and a black strap over her shoulder. She is holding a young child with blonde hair, who is wearing a light blue dress. They are both looking at a yellow bell pepper that the child is holding. A red bell pepper is also visible. The background is a soft-focus image of a sailboat on the water. The title and authors' names are overlaid on the image.

proliferation cytokine secretion phagocytosis hypothalamic pituitary adrenal axis regulation reproduction cardiovascular pathology bone formation apoptosis and angiogenesis In short it is now well documented that leptin acts like a cytokine hormone with many pleiotropic effects Furthermore in recent years it has become more and more apparent that many of leptin s effects are acquired not only through its central action but also through its systemic action on a peripheral level This book focuses mainly on the relatively novel aspects of leptin s actions Leptin s involvement in early postnatal imprinting has led to new insight into developmental programming This highly novel aspect of leptin s action is reviewed extensively in the final chapter of this book by the Auckland group Vickers Krechowec Gluckman and Breier In the last five years it has been shown that at least in rodents leptin acts as an important neurotrophic factor promoting the early postnatal maturation of neural pathways within the hypothalamus The authors review experimental evidence originating largely from their own work which shows that therapeutic intervention with leptin in the rodents early postnatal life can potentially reverse or substantially ameliorate the consequences of developmental malprogramming and that this effect is highly influenced by both gender and postnatal diet
