Unseen Things offers an ethnographic meditation on the uncanny persistence and cultural freight of conspiracy theory The project is a reading of conspiracy theory as an index of a certain strain of late 20th century American despondency and malaise especially as understood by people experiencing downward social mobility Written by a cultural anthropologist with a literary background this deeply interdisciplinary book focuses on the enduring American preoccupation with captivity in a rapidly transforming world Captivity is a trope that appears in both ordinary and fantastic iterations here and Susan Lepselter shows how multiple troubled histories of race class gender and power become compressed into stories of uncanny memory We really don't have anything like this in terms of a focused sympathetic open minded ethnographic study of UFO experiencers The author's semiotic approach to the paranormal is immensely productive positive and above all resonant with what actually happens in history Jeffrey J Kripal J Newton Rayzor Professor of Religion Rice University Lepselter relates a weave of intimate alien sensibilities in out of the way places which are surprisingly profoundly close to home Readers can expect to share her experience of contact with complex logics of feeling and to do so in a contemporary America they may have thought they understood Debbora Battaglia Mount Holyoke College An original and beautifully written study of contemporary American cultural poetics The book convincingly brings into relief the anxieties of those at the margins of American economic and civic life their perceptions of state power and the narrative continuities that bond them to histories of violence and expansion in the American West Deirdre de la Cruz University of Michigan Congressional Record United States.
