Here Comes The Sun A Journey To Adoption In 8 Chakras:

Here Comes the Sun Leza Lowitz, 2015-06-01 A YOGA MEMOIR At thirty Californian Leza Lowitz is single and traveling the world which suits her just fine Coming of age in Berkeley California during the sexual and feminist revolutions of the 1970s she learned that marriage and family could wait Or could they When Leza moves to Japan and meets the man of her dreams her heart opens in ways she never thought possible But she s still an outsider and home is far away Rather than struggle to fit in she opens a yoga studio and makes a home for others Then at forty four Leza and her Japanese husband seek to adopt in a country where bloodlines are paramount and family ties are almost feudal in their cultural importance She travels to India to work on herself and back to California to deal with her past Something is still not complete until she learns that when you give a little love to a child you get the whole world in return This inspiring memoir reflects the author s deep connection to yoga that allows her to realize that infertile does not mean inconceivable Through teaching meditation and community she transcends her struggles and embraces the joys of adoption and motherhood Leza Lowitz lives in Tokyo with her husband the writer Shogo Oketani and their ten year old son She has edited and published over seventeen books many on Japan and has run her own yoga studio in Tokyo for a decade She travels throughout Japan and Asia to teach yoga and write Her debut YA novel Jet Black and the Ninja Wind won the 2013 2014 Asian Pacific American Award in Young Adult Literature

Intercultural Families and Schooling in Japan: Experiences, Issues, and Challenges, 2020-09-01 The purpose of this book is to show how research on families can be used to offer inspiration suggestions and guidance to intercultural families choosing to school their children in the regular Japanese school system Each chapter is written by a parent or parents who are themselves researchers and thus bring their skills to the task of writing about issues which have affected their families and are likely to affect other families in similar ways There are also suggestions for other non Japanese parents coping with similar issues The book is divided into three sections The first Finding our own way deals with children s and parents struggles with identity and inclusion in Japanese schools and society The second Dealing with the Japanese school system offers narratives and advice on such topics as coping with homework and dealing with more than one school system as well as what government accredited Japanese overseas schools have to offer The third section Coping with challenges examines the experiences of families where children are different because they have physical or intellectual challenges or live with foster or adoptive families The book concludes with a narrative about a family who made the decision to remove their children from the Japanese system entirely and send them abroad for schooling The authors of the chapters in this book are all current or former university faculty living in different areas of Japan Some who live in highly populated urban areas have had ample opportunities to locate educational options for their children while others living in rural communities have had to struggle to advocate for their children s inclusion in mainstream classes Their stories are all compelling and their advice is certain to be helpful to those planning to or already raising children in Japan This book will also be of value to researchers and educators particularly those with an interest in bilingualism intercultural families and cross cultural issues along with anyone wishing to learn more about contemporary Japanese society
