The London Ritz Hugh Montgomery-Massingberd, David Watkin, 1980 This is the story of one of the world's greatest hotels César Ritz was a remarkable 19th century genius who completely transformed the notion of a hotel He gave to his establishments a hitherto unknown respectability and set new standards of excellence in luxury style and personal service In the case of the London Ritz even the building itself was an important breakthrough in design being the first large scale steel framed building erected in England The hotel with its beautiful Louis XVI interior had a significant and widely felt impact on Edwardian architecture But the story of the Ritz goes deeper than the skin of the building The heart and soul of any hotel are the people that inhabit it and shape its destiny This book also traces the social history of the Ritz from the beginning to the present day From Edward VII and Mrs Keppel to Edward VII and Mrs Simpson from Lady Diana Cooper to Jacqueline Onassis from Evelyn Waugh to Mick Jagger Based on hundreds of interviews with guests and staff both past and present a fascinating and absorbing story of the rich the beautiful and famous has been pieced together The London Ritz is an engrossing richly illustrated account of the architectural and social history of this world famous establishment from book jacket Reading

Architectural History Dana Arnold, 2003-09-02 Architectural history is more than just the study of buildings Architecture of the past and present remains an essential emblem of a distinctive social system and set of cultural values and as a result it has been the subject of study of a variety of disciplines But what is architectural history and how should we read it Reading Architectural History examines the historiographic and socio cultural implications of the mapping of British architectural history with particular reference to eighteenth and nineteenth century Britain Discursive essays consider a range of writings from biographical and social histories to visual surveys and guidebooks to examine the narrative structures of histories of architecture and their impact on perception and understanding of the architecture of the past Alongside this each chapter cites canonical histories juxtaposed with a range of social and cultural theorists to reveal that these writings are richer than we have perhaps recognised and that architectural production in this period can be interrogated in the same way as that from more recent past and can be read in a variety of ways The essays and texts combine to form an essential course reader for methods and critical approaches to architectural history and more generally as examples of the kind of evidence used in the formation of architectural histories while also offering a thematic introduction to architecture in Britain and its social and cultural meaning

A Cultural History of Furniture in the Age of Empire and Industry Catherine L. Futter,Christina M. Anderson,2022-02-24 The 19th century in Western culture was a time of both confidence and turbulence Industrial development produced a growing middle class as well as efficiency convenience and innovation across a range of fields from engineering to architecture Alongside these improvements the century began with the extended period of the Napoleonic Wars and was further disrupted by rebellions and revolutions both within Europe and in India South America and other parts of the world

Slavery was abolished and urbanization increased dramatically. These myriad developments were reflected throughout the period in the proliferation of types of furniture along with their categorization as industrial art at the international exhibitions and world fairs and the increasingly adventurous range of materials that were sometimes used in their construction. Nonetheless, a strong antiquarian historicist strand also prompted interest in the revival of past styles in areas of art and design including furniture. Drawing upon a wealth of visual and textual sources, this volume of A Cultural History of Furniture presents essays that examine key characteristics of the furniture of the period on the themes of design and motifs, makers, making and materials, types and uses, the domestic setting, the public setting, exhibition and display, furniture and architecture, visual representations and verbal representations.
