London Calling Britain The Bbc World Service And The Cold War

Klaus Arnold, Paschal Preston, Susanne Kinnebrock

London Calling Britain The Bbc World Service And The Cold War:

London Calling Alban Webb, 2014-06-19 From its inception in 1932 overseas broadcasting by the BBC quickly became an essential adjunct to British diplomatic and foreign policy objectives For this reason the World Service was considered the primary means of engaging with attitudes and opinions behind the Iron Curtain during the Cold War Although funded by government Grant in Aid the Service's editorial independence was enshrined in the BBC's Charter Licence and Agreement London Calling explores the delicate balance of power that lay in the relations between Whitehall and the World Service during the Cold War This book also assesses the nature and impact of the World Service's programmes on listeners living in the Eastern bloc countries In doing so it traces the evolution of overseas broadcasting from Britain alongside the political diplomatic and fiscal challenges that the country faced right up to the Suez crisis and the 1956 Hungarian uprising These were defining experiences for the United Kingdom's international broadcaster that as a consequence helped shape and define the BBC World Service as we know it today London Calling is an important study for anyone interested in the media and foreign policy histories of Great Britain or the history of the Cold War more generally Winner of the Longman History Today Book of the Year Award 2015

Public Diplomacy Nicholas J. Cull, 2019-04-15 New technologies have opened up fresh possibilities for public diplomacy but this has not erased the importance of history On the contrary the lessons of the past seem more relevant than ever in an age in which communications play an unprecedented role Whether communications are electronic or hand delivered the foundations remain as valid today as they ever have been Blending history with insights from international relations communication studies psychology and contemporary practice Cull explores the five core areas of public diplomacy listening advocacy cultural diplomacy exchanges and international broadcasting He unpacks the approaches which have dominated in recent years nation branding and partnership and sets out the foundations for successful global public engagement Rich with case studies and examples drawn from ancient times through to our own digital age the book shows the true capabilities and limits of emerging platforms and technologies as well as drawing on lessons from the past which can empower us and help us to shape the future This comprehensive and accessible introduction is essential reading for students scholars and practitioners as well as anyone interested in understanding or mobilizing global public opinion

BBC World Service Gordon Johnston, Emma Robertson, 2019-11-14 This book is the first full length history of the BBC World Service from its interwar launch as short wave radio broadcasts for the British Empire to its twenty first century incarnation as the multi media global platform of the British Broadcasting Corporation The book provides insights into the BBC's working relationship with the Foreign Office the early years of the Empire Service and the role of the BBC during the Second World War In following the voice of the BBC through the Cold War and the contraction of the British empire the book argues that debates about the work and purposes of the World Service have always involved deliberations about the future of the UK and its place in the world In current times these debates have been shaped by the British government's commitment to leave the European Union and the centrifugal currents in British politics which in the longer term threaten the integrity of the United Kingdom Through a detailed exploration of its past the book poses questions about the World Service's possible future and argues that for the BBC the question is not only what it means to be a global broadcaster as we enter the third decade of the twenty first century but what it means to be a national broadcaster in a divided kingdom

This Is the BBC Simon J. Potter, 2022 Founded in 1922 over the last century the BBC has become Britain's most influential broadcaster Its programmes have been part of everyday life in the UK and around the world from It's a Man's Man's World to Life on Earth Doctor Who and Eastenders reflecting social change and reshaping our culture However the BBC now faces significant challenges which may even jeopardize its continued existence This new book draws out these issues and looks at how similar threats including hostile governments management failures and transformative new technologies were met and overcome in the past For one hundred years the BBC has justified its existence on the basis that it speaks to and for the nation uniting the country and projecting British influence overseas However in a more diverse and divided Britain many question whether we still need this sort of broadcaster New global competitors and digital technologies and deep funding cuts threaten the Corporation's ability to play its traditional role By exploring the BBC's past Potter helps us think more clearly about its future Book jacket

Particular Kristin Roth-Ey, 2023-04-06 This collection takes a case study approach to enter into and explore spaces of Second Third World interaction during the Cold War From the dining halls of a university to hospital wards construction sites military barracks pubs and more the chapters drop the scale down from the global to the particular to better see understand and interpret the complex nature of these spaces These ordinary spaces are examined to understand how they were conceived constructed shaped and reshaped by people over time Many are physical places of encounter while others are more abstract embodying ideological goals In exploring these spaces the contributors show how the Second and Third World actors understood them and connected them to ideas such as gender and space the space of the nation of the modern and of the self Essentially it seeks to unravel how these spaces between Second and Third Worlds worked and what if anything was distinctive and consequential about them Second Third World Spaces in the Cold War explores the ways in which these Second and Third World actors collaborated and clashed in these everyday spaces and brings these multi faceted multi actor histories to a vital centre ground

Forging a British World of Trade David Thackeray, 2019-01-31 Brexit is likely to lead to the largest shift in Britain's economic orientation in living memory Some have argued that leaving the EU will enable Britain to revive markets in Commonwealth countries with which it has long standing historical ties Their opponents maintain that such claims are based on forms of imperial nostalgia which ignore the often uncomfortable historical trade relations between Britain and these countries as well as the UK's historical role as a global rather than chiefly imperial economy Forging a British World of Trade explores how efforts to promote a British World system centred on promoting trade between

Britain and the Dominions grew and declined in influence between the 1880s and 1970s At the beginning of the twentieth century many people from London to Sydney Auckland and Toronto considered themselves to belong to culturally British nations British politicians and business leaders invested significant resources in promoting trade with Australia Canada New Zealand and South Africa out of a perception that these were great markets of the future However ideas about promoting trade between British peoples were racially exclusive From the 1920s onwards colonized and decolonizing populations questioned and challenged the basis of British World networks making use of alternative forms of international collaboration promoted firstly by the League of Nations and then by the United Nations Schemes for imperial collaboration amongst ethnically British peoples were hollowed out by the actions of a variety of political and business leaders across Asia and Africa who reshaped the functions and identity of the Commonwealth Spies, Spin and the Fourth Estate Paul Lashmar,2020-04-02 Combining his expertise as a national security correspondent and research academic Paul Lashmar reveals how and why the media became more critical in its reporting of the Secret State He explores a series of major case studies including Snowden WikiLeaks Spycatcher rendition and torture and MI5 s vetting of the BBC most of which he reported on as they happened He discusses the issues that news coverage raises for democracy and gives you a deeper understanding of how intelligence and the media function interact and fit into structures of power and knowledge

Charles Wheeler - Witness to the Twentieth Century Shirin Wheeler,2023-11-09 Charles Wheeler the BBC s longest serving foreign correspondent was one of Britain s greatest news reporters For more than four decades he reported for radio and television from most of the world s trouble spots Present at many of the key episodes of the twentieth century he had as a BBC manager noted after the shooting of George Wallace Presidential candidate and Governor of Alabama on 15 May 1972 a knack of being in the right place at the right time It was typical of Charles that he ran towards the sound of the gunshot while the crowd was running in the opposite direction Wheeler s investigative skill and sense of judgement made him one of the most authoritative reporters of his generation But what was it like to have been witness to the events that shaped our modern world In this book part memoir part history part reflection his daughter Shirin Wheeler examines her father s journalistic legacy and brings her personal knowledge to bear on the project She will tell the story of her father a patient listener and forensic interrogator who was driven by curiosity and passion to report and expose injustice and above all to give a voice to people ignored or unheard by many Refugees in Twentieth-Century Britain Becky Taylor,2021-05-13 A timely history of the entry reception and resettlement of refugees to Britain across the twentieth century The Routledge Companion to Radio and Podcast Studies Mia Lindgren,Jason Loviglio,2022-06-15 This comprehensive companion is a much needed reference source for the expanding field of radio audio and podcast study taking readers through a diverse range of essays examining the core questions and key debates surrounding radio practices technologies industries policies resources histories and relationships with audiences Drawing together original essays from well established and emerging scholars to conceptualize this multidisciplinary field this book's global perspective acknowledges radio's enduring affinity with the local historical relationship to the national and its unpredictably transnational reach In its capacious understanding of what constitutes radio this collection also recognizes the latent time and space shifting possibilities of radio broadcasting and of the myriad ways for audio to come to us live Chapters on terrestrial radio mingle with studies of podcasts and streaming audio emphasizing continuities and innovations in form and content delivery and reception production cultures and aesthetics reminding us that neither radio nor podcasting should be approached as static objects of analysis but rather as mutually constituting cultural forms This cutting edge and vibrant companion provides a rich resource for scholars and students of history art theory industry studies journalism media and communication cultural studies feminist analysis and postcolonial studies Chapter 42 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Hearts, Minds, Voices Jason C. Parker, 2016-09-01 For over four decades the Cold War superpowers endeavored mightily to win hearts and minds abroad through public diplomacy Hearts, Minds, Voices explores how the non-European world responded to this media war by joining it rejecting the Cold War in favor of forging an imagined community grounded in nonalignment economic development and racialized solidarity the Third World

The Handbook of European Communication History Klaus Arnold, Paschal Preston, Susanne Kinnebrock, 2019-08-08 A groundbreaking handbook that takes a cross-national approach to the media history of Europe of the past 100 years The Handbook of European Communication History is a definitive and authoritative handbook that fills a gap in the literature to provide a coherent and chronological history of mass media public communication and journalism in Europe from 1900 to the late 20th century With contributions from teams of scholars and members of the European Communication Research and Education Association the Handbook explores media innovations major changes and developments in the media systems that affected public communication as well as societies and culture The contributors also examine the general trends of communication history and review debates related to media development To ensure a transnational approach to the topic the majority of chapters are written not by a single author but by international teams formed around one or more lead authors The Handbook goes beyond national perspectives and provides a basis for more cross-national treatments of historical developments in the field of mediated communication Indeed this important Handbook Offers fresh insights on the development of media alongside key differences between countries regions or media systems over the past century Takes a fresh cross-national approach to European media history Contains contributions from leading international scholars in this rapidly evolving area of study Explores the major innovations key developments differing trends and the important debates concerning the media in the European setting Written for students and academics of communication and media studies as well as media professionals The Handbook of European Communication History covers European media from 1900 with the emergence of the popular press to the professionalization of journalists and the first wave of multimedia with the advent of film and radio broadcasting through the rapid growth of the Internet and digital media since the late 20th century Radio Modernisms Aasiya Lodhi, Amanda Wrigley, 2020-06-09

This collection interrogates and stimulates deep cross disciplinary engagement with the various understandings and interplays of radio modernisms from the early decades of the twentieth century through to the 1950s Academics from a range of different disciplines explore their common interests in the richness and heterogeneity of BBC Radio's imaginative programming in terms of sound as cultural events from specific moments in time as team creations as something experienced live in the domestic context and as cultural works that in many cases attracted a certain canonical pedigree Radio modernisms are as these chapters demonstrate a combination of the particular the contingent and the contextual More than a decade after the publication of the first scholarly works to yoke together modernism and radio this collection emphasises the plurality of modernisms as a defining aspect of contemporary BBC historiography The authors bring multiple lenses to bear including race gender and transnationalism in order to re locate twentieth century radio programming in broad expansive contexts They also underline the dynamic entanglements of radio and radiogenic feature programmes in particular with other kinds of media and cultural forms and formats reframing radio as a site of and vehicle for remediation and intermediality In examining the myriad ways in which radio gave shape to new modernities and both evolved and constituted new forms of modernism this collection offers fresh perspectives on the interconnected significance of radio modernisms within the socio cultural literary and political landscapes of twentieth century Britain This book was originally published as a special issue of Media History Military Strategy Jeremy Black, 2020-04-07

A global account of military strategy which examines the practices rather than the theories of the most significant military figures of the past 400 years Strategy has existed as long as there has been organised conflict In this new account Jeremy Black explores the ever changing relationship between purpose force implementation and effectiveness in military strategy and its dramatic impact on the development of the global power system Taking a total view of strategy Black looks at leading powers notably the United States China Britain and Russia in the wider context of their competition and their domestic and international strengths Ranging from France's ancien régime and Britain's empire building to present day conflicts in the Middle East Black devotes particular attention to the strategic practice and decisions of the Kangxi Emperor Clausewitz Napoleon and Hitler Transnational Radio

Monitoring in the Twentieth Century Suzanne Bardgett, Friederike Kind-Kovács, Vincent Kuitenbrouwer, 2024-09-06 Radio monitoring is an important feature of broadcasting history and monitoring reports form a treasure trove for historians This volume offers six case studies that provide new insights on the importance of radio monitoring during the Second World War and the Cold War Radio broadcasting is not only about transmission but also about listening From the start of the medium's history radio organisations institutionalised services to monitor the broadcasts of stations from all over the globe and write daily reports about them This act of listening provided valuable information about the situation in various parts of the world or insights into the communication strategies of broadcasters As a result collections of monitoring reports are bulky containing countless documents which form a treasure trove for radio historians At the same time researchers need to be aware that these sources are far from neutral monitoring services often serve clear geopolitical objectives in context of conflict situations This volume explores the rich history of radio monitoring during the Second World War and the Cold War As such it offers original case studies that shed light on previously unknown radio histories Moreover all the authors reflect on the use of monitoring reports as a historical source and as such provide methodological guidelines This volume will be a key resource for academics researchers and advanced students of media history war studies media studies sociology and cultural studies It was originally published in Media History

Radio Relations Tiziano Bonini, Madalena Oliveira, Grażyna Stachyra, 2019-01-15 This volume gathers together revised versions of the papers presented at the ECREA Radio Research Section Conference held in Lublin Poland in September 2017 The book highlights what radio actually is a medium created to connect different places at a distance Subtle but pervasive simple but graceful radio builds affective relations either between listeners and the world or between listeners themselves The word relations is plural It suggests the idea that radio is both an economic activity related to technology production working routines and business and a cultural industry related to aesthetics art social interaction education and politics Since relations are relevantly human we can explore how radio appeals to personal commitment and can reinforce a sense of community too The unique value of this book lies both in erudite essays of Se n Street and Enrico Menduni world famous figures of radio research and in perspectives sketched by brilliant young radio practitioners and researchers The diverse views on radio communications from authors across the different regions of the world including Brazil Canada Italy Poland France Hungary Spain and the UK collected here will certainly inspire radio researchers media historians sociologists and journalism students

Scripting Empire James Procter, 2024-03-06 Scripting Empire recovers the literary and cultural history of West Indian and West African writing at the BBC in order to rethink the critical mid century decades of shrinking British sovereignty late modernism and mass migration to the metropole Between the 1930s and the 1960s a remarkable group of black Atlantic artists and intellectuals became producers editors and freelancers at the corporation including Una Marson Langston Hughes Louise Bennett Wole Soyinka Derek Walcott Amos Tutuola V S Naipaul Sam Selvon Cyprian Ekwensi Stuart Hall and C L R James Operating at the interface of a range of literary and broadcast genres this loose network of African Caribbean writers and thinkers prompt a reassessment of the aesthetic formal and political fallout of decolonization between the outbreak of World War II and the first airings of post colonial independence Scripting Empire works comparatively across dozens of different programmes spanning the General Overseas Service Home Service Light Programme and Third Programme Drawing upon a transnational archive of materials including scripts correspondence periodicals visual records and sound recordings it seeks to re position the cultural contribution of West Indians and West Africans within a more pervasive and porous account of radio transmission

the legacy of which extends well beyond broadcasting

Issues and Singularity in the British Media Volume 2 Renée Dickason, David Haigron, 2024-07-16 This book offers a historical cultural political and socio economic analysis of the British media It examines how facts and events are reported and interpreted but also how ideas and opinions circulate and are recycled with attention being paid to British traits and tropes in these domains This in depth study of issues and singularity aims at understanding how the British media have helped shape the country s culture and representations thereby providing its people with a sense of togetherness Volume 2 focuses on radio and mostly television broadcasting from the interwar period to the early 21st century In order to apprehend what is deeply engrained in British culture and thus contributes to shaping national identity it analyses the ideas disseminated and reflected not only in programmes but also within media institutions in the face of changing political contexts as well as providing a historiographical overview

Wireless Internationalism and Distant Listening Simon J. Potter, 2020-05-21 During the 1920s and 1930s the new medium of radio broadcasting promised to transform society by fostering national unity and strengthening and popularising national cultures However many hoped that wireless would also encourage international understanding and world peace Intentionally or otherwise wireless signals crossed borders bringing talk music and news to enthusiastic distant listeners in other countries In Europe radio was regulated through international consultation and cooperation to restrict interference between stations and to unleash the medium s full potential to carry programmes to global audiences A distinctive form of wireless internationalism emerged reflecting and reinforcing the broader internationalist movement and establishing structures and approaches which endured into the Second World War the Cold War and beyond This study reveals this untold history Wireless Internationalism and Distant Listening also explores the neglected interwar experience of distant listening revealing the prevalence of listening across borders and explaining how individuals struggled to overcome unwanted noise tune in as many stations as possible and comprehend and enjoy what they heard The volume shows how radio brought the world to Britain and Britain to the world It revises our understanding of early BBC broadcasting and the BBC Empire Service the precursor to today s World Service and shows how government influence shaped early BBC international broadcasting in English Arabic Spanish and Portuguese It also explores the wider European and trans Atlantic context demonstrating how Fascism in Italy and Germany the Spanish Civil War and the Japanese invasion of China combined to overturn the utopianism of the 1920s and usher in a new era of wireless nationalism
