Grieving God's Way Margaret Brownley, 2004-01-24 IF it's been six months A year Two years or more And you still feel Depressed Joyless Lost Alone IF You're afraid to tell anyone That you're still grieving For fear they'll think you're crazy If you feel the need to hide your feelings behind A smile and try to pretend everything is okay Then what you're feeling is perfectly normal Did you know that it can take as long as five years or more for a person to adequately work through grief But because we live in a fast paced society we often sweep grief under the rug or ignore it altogether Medical experts now know that unresolved grief can cause such health problems as headaches depression back pain and even heart disease and cancer

Wayne Jacobsen, author of He Loves Me: Learning to Live in the Father's Affection, after the death of a child, there is no closure. It is like learning how to live with an amputation; you are forever changed and need to learn how to live a new normal. There can be a feeling of desperation to find someone farther ahead on the path who can understand the crushing pain that makes you feel like you can't even breathe at times. Laura Diehl was plunged into that place with the death of her daughter and meets the deep need to connect with others who have experienced what cannot be put into words. When Tragedy Strikes is the raw account of her journey from deep darkness back into light and life, extending a hand of hope to those traveling on the path behind her who need to rebuild their lives after the death of a child.
