Colour Vision Deficiencies XI B. Drum, 2012-12-06 The eleventh Symposium of the International Research Group on Colour Vision Deficiencies IRGCVD was held 20-23 June 1991 in Sydney Australia ably hosted by local organizer Stephen Dain. A total of 35 talks and 10 posters were presented. Papers based on 37 of these presentations are included here in Colour Vision Deficiencies XI. The scientific program featured sessions on three special topics with each topic highlighted by an invited speaker. The opening session on the Genetics of congenital colour vision deficiencies began with a superb invited lecture by Charles Weitz about his pioneering work on the molecular genetics of tritanopia. The session on the second special topic Spatial aspects of colour vision began with the launching of a new IRGCVD tradition as 1991 Verriest Memorial Award recipient Harry Sperling presented the first Verriest Memorial Lecture on his recent studies of spatial discrimination of heterochromatic stimuli. Dr Sperling reported new evidence that certain asymmetries in red-green opponent colour vision can be explained by the spatial organization of colour opponent retinal neurons. In the third special session on Occupational aspects of colour vision Barry Cole took the audience on a fascinating tour of the historical development of colour vision standards in his invited lecture entitled Does defective colour vision really matter. In addition to the three special topics many interesting presentations were given in topical sessions on Variations in normal colour vision, Acquired colour vision deficiencies and Colour vision tests and testing methods. Ishihara's Test Chart 24 Plates Edition 2020 Prof N L

Research on visual perception in schizophrenia has a long history However it is only recently that it has been included in mainstream efforts to understand the cognitive neuroscience of the disorder and to assist with biomarker and treatment development e g the NIMH CNTRICS and RDoC initiatives Advances in our understanding of visual disturbances in schizophrenia can tell us about both specific computational and neurobiological abnormalities and about the widespread computational and neurobiological abnormalities in the illness of which visual disturbances constitute well studied replicable low level examples Importantly far from being a passive sensory registration process visual perception is active inferential and hypothesis generating and therefore can provide excellent examples of breakdowns in general brain functions in schizophrenia Despite progress made in understanding visual processing disturbances in schizophrenia many challenges exist and many unexplored areas are in need of examination For example the directional relationships between perceptual and cognitive disturbances e g in attention memory executive function predictive coding remain unclear in many cases as do links with symptoms including visual hallucinations The effect of specific visual disturbances on multisensory integration in schizophrenia has also not been explored In addition few studies of vision in schizophrenia have used naturalistic stimuli including real world objects and almost no studies have examined processing during interaction with objects or visual exploration which can provide important data on functioning of the perception for action pathway Relatedly studies of visual processing in schizophrenia have also not been conducted within contexts that include emotional stimulation and the presence of reinforcers characteristics of many real world situations and the consequences of this are likely to be an incomplete view of how and when perception is abnormal in the condition An additional important area involves treatment of visual disturbances in schizophrenia Two major questions regarding this are 1 can visual processing be improved in cases where it is impaired and by what types of interventions affecting which cognitive and neurobiological mechanisms and 2 what are the clinical and functional benefits of improving specific visual functions in people with schizophrenia Other important and understudied questions concern 1 the extent to which indices of visual functioning can serve as biomarkers such as predictors of relapse treatment response and or recovery 2 the potential role of visual functioning in diagnosing and predicting illness 3 the extent to which some visual perception disturbances are diagnostically specific to schizophrenia and 4 the extent to which visual disturbances are truly manifestations of disease as opposed to aspects of normal variation that in combination with disease serves to modify the clinical presentation This Frontiers Research Topic explores some of these and other issues facing this exciting interface between vision science and schizophrenia research We include papers that span the entire range of different Frontiers paper types including those that are data driven using psychophysics electroencephalography neuroimaging computational and animal models and other methods reviews hypotheses theories opinion methods areas of impact and historical perspectives
