Gray, 2012-11-08 Are women in North Africa and the Middle East feminist Or is being a Muslim incompatible with feminism Is there such a thing as Islamic feminism Through interviews with Moroccan activists and jurists both male and female and by situating these interviews within their socio political and economic contexts Doris Gray addresses these questions By doing so she attempts to move beyond the simple bifurcation of feminist and Islamist to look at the many facets of internal gender discourse within one Muslim country allowing for a more nuanced understanding of the discussion on women's rights in the Muslim world in general The status and the role of women is one of the most hotly debated topics throughout the Middle East and North

Africa and this is particularly visible through this discussion of what it means to engage with and promote feminist thought and actions in the region

Historical Dictionary of Islamic Fundamentalism Mathieu Guidère, 2017-09-20 After the rise of the Islamic State in the Middle East and the new geopolitical landscape in this region it is essential for the modern reader to understand the history that has allowed for and influenced these types of Islamic groups to form Historical Dictionary of Islamic Fundamentalism acts as a didactic resource that explains from the Islamic perspective the historical importance of the Islamic fundamentalist world This dictionary provides a comprehensive and thorough analysis of various groups events movements key figures and dogmas that have influenced contemporary Islamic fundamentalism A chronology spanning 600 years graphs of complex Islamic group associations and alliances and an Arabic to English glossary have all been included to facilitate a complete understanding of the nuances and generalities that have shaped this movement This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Islamic Fundamentalism also contains an introduction appendixes an extensive bibliography and more than 700 cross referenced entries on ideologies people events and movements of the 20th and 21st centuries

A Call for Heresy Anouar Majid, A Call for Heresy discovers unexpected common ground in one of the most inflammatory issues of the twenty first century the deepening conflict between the Islamic world and the United States Moving beyond simplistic answers Anouar Majid argues that the Islamic world and the United States are both in precipitous states of decline because in each religious political and economic orthodoxies have silenced the voices of their most creative thinkers the visionary nonconformists radicals and revolutionaries who are often dismissed or even punished as heretics The United States and contemporary Islam share far more than partisans on either side admit Majid provocatively argues and this clash of civilizations is in reality a clash of competing fundamentalisms Illustrating this point he draws surprising parallels between the histories and cultures of Islam and the United States and their shortsighted suppression of heresy zandaqa in Arabic from Muslim poets and philosophers like Ibn Rushd known in the West as Averroes to the freethinker Thomas Paine and from Abu Bakr Razi and Al Farabi to Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln He finds bitter irony in the fact that Islamic culture is now at war with a nation whose ideals are losing ground to the reactionary forces that have long condemned Islam to stagnation The solution Majid concludes is a long overdue revival of dissent Heresy is no longer a contrarian's luxury for only through encouraging an engaged and progressive intellectual tradition can the nations reverse their decline and finally work together for global justice and the common good of humanity Anouar Majid is founding chair and professor of English at the University of New England and the author of Freedom and Orthodoxy Islam and Difference in the Post Andalusian Age Unveiling Traditions Postcolonial Islam in a Polycentric World and Si Yussef a novel He is also cofounder and editor of Tingis a Moroccan American magazine of ideas and culture

Muslim Diaspora in the West Haideh Moghissi, Halleh Ghorashi, 2016-04-29 In view of the growing influence of religion in public life on the national and international scenes Muslim Diaspora in the West constitutes a timely contribution to scholarly debates and a response to concerns raised in the West about Islam and Muslims within diaspora It begins with the premise that diasporic communities of Islamic cultures while originating in countries dominated by Islamic laws and religious practices far from being uniform are in fact shaped in their existence and experiences by a complex web of class ethnic gender religious and regional factors as well as the cultural and social influences of their adopted homes Within this context this volume brings together work from experts within Europe and North America to explore the processes that shape the experiences and challenges faced by migrants and refugees who originate in countries of Islamic cultures Presenting the latest research from a variety of locations on both sides of The Atlantic Muslim Diaspora in the West addresses the realities of diasporic life for self identified Muslims addressing questions of integration rights and equality before the law and challenging stereotypical views of Muslims As such it will appeal to scholars with interests in race and ethnicity cultural media and gender studies and migration

Mahmassani,2014-07-27 RENEWING OUR UNDERSTANDING OF ISLAM IN TODAY S WORLD Islam in many of its current guises no longer resembles its original Message In a world of intractable conflicts plagued by political Islam and Islamophobia and where other forms of fundamentalism within the major religious creeds are on the rise as well this book serves as a reminder It aims to recover and reaffirm Islam's underlying and guiding principles. Setting out to distinguish the divine from the human in order to elucidate the pristine nature of the divine Message, Mahmassani reasserts Islam's universal, secular, and progressive character. In Part One of this comprehensive and meticulously researched volume, the author places the Message of Islam within its historic, geographic, and cultural contexts. Focusing on the primacy of the Holy Qur'an among the sources of Islam, he examines the controversies which have surrounded the Prophetic Tradition, Sunna, and Hadith as a source of Islam, demonstrating the full scope of Islam's universality. In Part Two, he goes on to clarify Islam's secular nature by reconsidering inherited beliefs about the relationship between Islam and the state and Islam and Sharia, a law revealing Islam's inherent humanism. This leads in Part Three to reflections on the progressive nature of Islam and on the importance of the role of the mind in understanding and taking full benefit of religion as an engine of progress. In particular, the author focuses on human rights, including issues of human dignity, freedom of faith, and gender equality. Islam in Retrospect: Recovering the Message is a rich contribution to continuing efforts to reform perceptions of Islam. Scholars and students in the fields of Islamic studies, religion, and the humanities; teachers, policy makers, and general readers will find this carefully constructed sourcebook invaluable for its fresh outlook and approach to understanding Islam and Muslim Scriptures in the light of today's world. As Mahmassani affirms, Islam as a divine message has been and continuously remains perfect.

Muslim Women on the Move
Doris H. Gray, 2008-01-01. This book offers rare insights into the individual experiences of young, educated women in Morocco and women of Moroccan origin in France. They speak about their understanding of Islam and their personal and professional goals and challenges and offer views on the reform of the Personal Status Code, family law in Morocco, and the ban on overt religious insignia, that is, the veil in French public schools. Despite their different places of residence, remarkable similarities emerge.

Islamic Feminism and the Discourse of Post-Liberation
Marnia Lazreg, 2020-12-29. This important study examines the cultural turn for women in the Middle East and North Africa, analyzing the ways they have adjusted to and at times defended socially conservative redefinitions of their roles in society in matters of marriage, work, and public codes of behavior. Whether this cultural turn is an autochthonous response or an alternative to Western feminism, Islamic Feminism and the Discourse of Post-Liberation: The Cultural Turn in Algeria examines the sources, evolution, contradictions, as well as consequences of the Cultural Turn. Focusing on Algeria but making comparisons with Tunisia and Morocco, it takes an in-depth look at Islamic feminism and studies its functions in the geopolitics of control of Islam. It also explores the knowledge effects of the cultural turn and crucially identifies a critical way of re-orienting feminist thought and practice in the region. This new work from a highly regarded scholar will appeal to researchers, graduates, and undergraduates in North African studies, Middle Eastern studies, sociology, women and gender studies, anthropology, political science, and ethnic and critical race studies.

Innovation and Agility in the Digital Age Soufyane Frimousse, 2019-03-07 Africa is a laboratory for managerial and societal innovations built out of pragmatic arrangements Some African companies offer products and services that go beyond the standard practices of their international counterparts based on original and inventive managerial characteristics Such success stories outline a new model of management and innovation for companies in the digital era The African innovations that have emerged over the past ten years are directly linked to a managerial model that perfectly meets the demands of the digital era These new organizations indicate that good managerial practices and innovation models also come from the Global South and no longer exclusively from the East Coast of the United States Understanding these dynamics is of great theoretical and practical interest for the many companies struggling to seize the opportunities for growth in Africa

The Niqab in France Agnès De Féo, 2024-02-06 This original new work is the fascinating result of sociologist and documentary filmmaker Agnès De Féo's ten year exploration of the phenomenon of niqab wearing It is at once a groundbreaking study and a series of compelling first person accounts from French and Francophone women who wear or have worn the niqab in France's Salafi communities With the backdrop of the French government's 2010 ban on full facial veiling in public spaces which itself has shaped the phenomenon De Féo draws on her subjects own words to show their agency working against the clichés that often underlie public views of the niqab that it is purely the result of masculine pressure for example or extreme religiosity or nationalism or the submissive desire to disappear Instead she shows the niqab is multivalent women wear it for reasons that range from religious piety to the desire to rebel against mainstream society family or the rule of law The reasons are complex overdetermined contradictory or even inconsistent but they are the women's own Despite being worn only by a small minority of Muslim women the Islamic garment has nonetheless been a major source of intense political religious and cultural debate in France Searching to understand rather than speculate De Féo chose to approach the people who wear the niqab and to make them rather the veil itself the subject of her research Her unprecedented study based on more than 200 interviews reveals the many factors social political geopolitical and psychological underpinning a personal choice that is not always as religious as it seems The book ends with sixteen captivating interviews giving voice to stories rarely heard With finesse and discernment the author debunks the myths surrounding the wearing of the niqab and sheds light on a practice subject to misunderstanding and prejudice offering the reader unique insight Challenging our preconceived notions and stereotypes about women who wear any form of Islamic apparel but particularly the niqab The Niqab in France introduces a group of women each with her own life story her own share of personal struggles aspirations and desires and her own claim to a certain place in society This work received support for excellence in publication and translation from Albertine Translation a program created by Villa Albertine
