The Metabolism, Structure, and Function of Plant Lipids Paul K. Stumpf, J. Brian Mudd, W. David Nes, 2012-12-06 The Seventh International Symposium on the Structure and Function of Plant Lipids took place at the University of California Davis California July 27th to August 1st 1986 This was the first time the Symposium was held in the United States The list of previous host cities reads Norwich Karlsruhe Goteborg Paris Groningen Neuchatel The addition of Davis to this distinguished list was made by the organizers with the doubts of people who give invitations to parties will anybody come In fact 155 participants registered and there were 21 spouses in attendance The scientific program was composed of nine sessions

biochemistry of isoprenoids and sterols function of isoprenoids and sterols structure and function of lipids biosynthesis of complex lipids fatty acid oxygenases and desaturases medium and long chain fatty acids interaction of university government and industrial research algal lipids and genetics and biotechnology In addition to these sessions of plenary lectures there were four poster sessions in which about 140 posters were presented All of this was packed into four days and there was some comment about the scarcity of time to ask questions of the speakers discuss the posters and even to eat lunch The compression of the program was a result of the continued desire of the organizing committees to avoid concurrent sessions The congregation of participants into a single session increases interaction and generates a feeling of unity at these symposia

Advances in Lipid Research Rodolfo Paoletti, David Kritchevsky, 2014-06-28 Advances in Lipid Research Volume 23 provides information pertinent to mammalian as well as plant metabolism This book presents important data on apoproteins which may offer a foothold for further probes of the genetics underlying increased susceptibility to ischemic heart disease Organized into seven chapters this volume begins with an overview of the molecular biology of human apolipoproteins B and E This text then explains the lipid metabolism of dermatophytes and describes their lipid composition and how it may be modulated Other chapters consider the function distribution and biosynthesis of the sterols of fungi and examine the influences of fungal sterols on membrane fluidity This book discusses as well the biosynthesis and degradation of platelet activating factor PAF as well as its physiological function The final chapter deals with one specific area of PAF activity namely renal processes This book is a valuable resource for biologist biochemists chemists and clinicians
