Marginal Gains Monetary Transactions In Atlantic Africa 1st First Edition:

The Bureaucratization of the World in the Neoliberal Era B. Hibou, 2015-05-06 Contemporary bureaucracy is a set of norms rules procedures and formalities which includes administration business and NGOs Where Max Weber meets Michel Foucault B atrice Hibou analyzes the political dynamics underlying this process Neoliberal bureaucracy is a vector of discipline and control producing social and political indifference Marginal Gains Jane I. Guyer, 2004-03 In America almost all the money in circulation passes through financial institutions every day But in Nigeria s cash and carry system 90 percent of the currency never comes back to a bank after it s issued What happens when two such radically different economies meet and mingle as they have for centuries in Atlantic Africa The answer is a rich diversity of economic practices responsive to both local and global circumstances In Marginal Gains Jane I Guyer explores and explains these often bewildering practices including trade with coastal capitalism and across indigenous currency zones and within the modern popular economy Drawing on a wide range of evidence Guyer demonstrates that the region shares a coherent if loosely knit commercial culture She shows how that culture actually works in daily practice addressing both its differing scales of value and the many settings in which it operates from crisis conditions to ordinary household budgets The result is a landmark study that reveals not just how popular economic systems work in Africa but possibly elsewhere in the Third World Marginal Gains Jane I. The Real Politics of the Horn of Africa Alex de Waal, 2015-10-19 The Real Politics of the Horn of Africa delves into the business of politics in the turbulent war torn countries of north east Africa It is a contemporary history of how politicians generals and insurgents bargain over money and power and use of war to achieve their goals Drawing on a thirty year career in Sudan Ethiopia Eritrea and Somalia including experience as a participant in high level peace talks Alex de Waal provides a unique and compelling account of how these countries leaders run their governments conduct their business fight their wars and occasionally make peace De Waal shows how leaders operate on a business model securing funds for their political budgets which they use to rent the provisional allegiances of army officers militia commanders tribal chiefs and party officials at the going rate This political marketplace is eroding the institutions of government and reversing statebuilding and it is fuelled in large part by oil exports aid funds and western military assistance for counter terrorism and peacekeeping The Real Politics of the Horn of Africa is a sharp and disturbing book with profound implications for international relations development and peacemaking in the Horn of Africa and beyond

The Gambia-Senegal Border Mariama Khan, 2019-05-22 This book interrogates the validity of longstanding claims that Gambians and Senegalese are one people in two countries and explores how that claim intersects with the politics and development needs of the two countries Half a century after independence proponents of Senegambian unification continue to campaign on the basis of the longstanding social cultural and religious ties between Africa's smallest country The Gambia and Senegal the much larger country which almost entirely encircles it The border between the two former British and French colonies remains one of the starkest examples of colonial geographical bartering and it continues to serve a dual function as a bridge and a barrier in the social political and economic relations of the two countries The book investigates how the two states are constantly pulled between impulses of cooperation and de escalation and a competitive intimacy that disregards kinship ties and re activates tensions In particular the book shows how these interstate dynamics play out across the border itself where indigenous ideas of relatedness are reflected in the cross border transport and trade sectors and in the religious networks that straddle the two countries This book s skilful exploration of intersecting macro level and micro level relations in the Senegambia region will be of interest to scholars of African politics regional studies international development and border studies

Beyond the Social Contract Nicolette Makovicky,Robin Smith,2023-08-11 Tax and taxation are conventionally understood as the embodiment of social contract This ground breaking collection of essays challenges this truism examining what tax might tell us about the limits of social contract thinking The contributors shed light on contemporary fiscal structures and public debates about the moralities practices and imaginaries of tax systems using tax to explore the nature of citizenship personal freedom and moral and economic value Their ethnographically grounded accounts show how taxation may be influenced by spaces of fiscal sovereignty that exist outside or alongside the state taking various forms from alternative religious communities to economic collectives

Anthropos and the Material Penny Harvey, Christian Krohn-Hansen, Knut G. Nustad, 2019-05-09 The destructive effects of modern industrial societies have shaped the planet in such profound ways that many argue for the existence of a new geological epoch called the Anthropocene This claim brings into relief a set of challenges that have deep implications for how relations between the human the material and the political affect contemporary social worlds The contributors to Anthropos and the Material examine these challenges by questioning and complicating long held understandings of the divide between humans and things They present ethnographic case studies from across the globe addressing myriad topics that range from labor economics and colonialism to technology culture the environment agency and diversity In foregrounding the importance of connecting natural and social histories the instability and intangibility of the material and the ways in which the lively encounters between the human and the nonhuman challenge conceptions of liberal humanism the contributors point to new understandings of the capacities of people and things to act transform and adapt to a changing world

Currencies of Imagination Ivan V. Small, 2019-01-15 In Vietnam international remittances from the Vietnamese diaspora are quantitatively significant and contribute important economic inputs Yet beyond capital transfer these diasporic remittance economies offer insight into an unfolding transformation of Vietnamese society through the extension of imaginations and ontological possibilities that accompany them Currencies of Imagination examines the complex role of remittances as money and as gifts that flow across and mediate between transnational kinship networks dispersed by exile and migration Long distance international gift exchanges and channels in a neoliberal political economy juxtapose the increasing cross border mobility of remittance financial flows against the relative confines of state bounded bodies In this contradiction Ivan V Small reveals a creative space for emergent imaginaries that disrupt local structures and scales of desire labor and expectation Furthermore the particular characteristics of remittance channels and mediums in a global economy including transnational mobility and exchangeable value affect and reflect the relations aspirations and orientations of the exchange participants Small traces a genealogy of how this phenomenon has shifted through changing remittance forms and transfer infrastructures from material and black market to formal bank and money services Transformations in the affective and institutional relations among givers receivers and remittance facilitators accompany each of these shifts illustrating that the socio cultural work of remittances extends far beyond the formal economic realm they are usually consigned to

Demanding Images Karen

Strassler,2020-03-20 The end of authoritarian rule in 1998 ushered in an exhilarating but unsettled period of democratization in Indonesia A more open political climate converged with a rapidly changing media landscape yielding a vibrant and volatile public sphere within which Indonesians grappled with the possibilities and limits of democracy amid entrenched corruption state violence and rising forms of intolerance In Demanding Images Karen Strassler theorizes image events as political processes in which publicly circulating images become the material ground of struggles over the nation s past present and future Considering photographs posters contemporary art graffiti selfies memes and other visual media she argues that people increasingly engage with politics through acts of making circulating manipulating and scrutinizing images Demanding Images is both a closely observed account of Indonesia s turbulent democratic transition and a globally salient analysis of the work of images in the era of digital media and neoliberal democracy Strassler reveals politics today to be an unruly enterprise profoundly shaped by the affective and evidentiary force of images Markets in the Making Michel

Callon,2021-12-07 Slicing through blunt theories of supply and demand Callon presents a rigorously researched but counterintuitive model of how everyday market activity gets produced If you re convinced you know what a market is think again In his long awaited study French sociologist and engineer Michel Callon takes us to the heart of markets to the unsung processes that allow innovations to become robust products and services Markets in the Making begins with the observation that stable commercial transactions are more enigmatic more elusive and more involved than previously described by economic theory Slicing through blunt theories of supply and demand Callon presents a rigorously researched but counterintuitive model of market activity that emphasizes what people designing products or launching startups soon discover the inherent difficulties of connecting individuals to things Callon s model is founded upon the notion of singularization the premise that goods and services must adapt and be adapted to the local milieu of every individual whose life they enter Person by person thing by thing Callon demonstrates that for ordinary economic transactions to emerge en masse singular connections must be made Pushing us to see markets as more than abstract interfaces where pools of anonymous buyers and sellers meet Callon draws our attention to the exhaustively creative practices that market professionals continuously devise to entangle people and things Markets in the Making exemplifies how prototypes fragile curiosities that have only just been imagined are gradually honed into predictable objects and practices Once these are active enough to create a desired effect yet passive enough to be transferred from one place to another without disruption they will have successfully achieved the status of goods or services The output of this more ample process of innovation as redefined by Callon is what we recognize as the market commercial activity at scale The capstone of an influential research career at the forefront of science and technology studies Markets in the Making coherently integrates the empirical perspective of product engineering with the values of the social sciences After masterfully redescribing how markets are made Callon culminates with a strong empirical argument for why markets can and should be harnessed to enact social change His is a theory of markets that serves social critique
