Greenhouse Climate Control An Integrated Approach:

Greenhouse Climate Control J. C. Bakker, 1995 This publication emphasises that an interdisciplinary and multi disciplinary cooperation of scientists throughout the world is important in solving the complex problems facing the greenhouse industry The book itself is an outstanding example of such cooperation The aim of the book is to describe and analyse crop production in greenhouses in relation to climate control to redefine the problem of optimal control from a theoretical point of view and to provide a suitable framework for the design of new scientifically based control systems Though the principles are generally applicable they are discussed against the background of the Dutch greenhouse industry To provide the reader with some background information the historical developments and the economic position of the Dutch horticultural industry are briefly reviewed in the introductory chapter this book will certainly become a reference as such an extensive review on the greenhouse crop system and its control is lacking for research and teaching Scientia Horticultura

Modeling and Control of Greenhouse Crop Growth Francisco Rodríguez,Manuel Berenguel,José Luis Guzmán,Armando Ramírez-Arias,2014-11-01 A discussion of challenges related to the modeling and control of greenhouse crop growth this book presents state of the art answers to those challenges The authors model the subsystems involved in successful greenhouse control using different techniques and show how the models obtained can be exploited for simulation or control design they suggest ideas for the development of physical and or black box models for this purpose Strategies for the control of climate and irrigation related variables are brought forward The uses of PID control and feedforward compensators both widely used in commercial tools are summarized The benefits of advanced control techniques event based robust and predictive control for example are used to improve on the performance of those basic methods A hierarchical control architecture is developed governed by a high level multiobjective optimization approach rather than traditional constrained optimization and artificial intelligence techniques Reference trajectories are found for diurnal and nocturnal temperatures climate related setpoints and electrical conductivity fertirrigation related setpoints The objectives are to maximize profit fruit quality and water use efficiency these being encouraged by current international rules Illustrative practical results selected from those obtained in an industrial greenhouse during the last eight years are shown and described The text of the book is complemented by the use of illustrations tables and real examples which are helpful in understanding the material Modeling and Control of Greenhouse Crop Growth will be of interest to industrial engineers academic researchers and graduates from agricultural chemical and process control backgrounds Food Process
