war bond: sold by the government to raise money for the war recycling drive: organized collection of items to recycle into war supplies

Red Cross: an organization that cares for the sick, wounded, and homeless during wars and natural disasters black market: an illegal market where rationed items are sold propaganda: using information to promote a certain viewpoint like we have today also did not yet exist, so people shopped in small specialty stores, such as butcher shops for meat and bakeries for bread.

Fortunately, the United States did not have to deal with frequent bomb raids like much of Europe did. Americans did experience shortages of food, clothing, and gasoline, though. The Office of Price Administration (OPA) set up rationing and price controls by 1942, so the United States would not experience the inflation and food shortages that occurred during World War I. Families were issued ration books to buy rationed items such as coffee, butter, chocolate, canned fruit, gasoline, oil, rubber, and shoes. But having a ration book did not guarantee that products would be available. Sometimes, store owners simply could not get the items. When they did, people quickly formed long lines to buy the goods before they ran out. Some people turned to the black market to get what they wanted. The term black market doesn't mean a specific place where goods were sold. It means the illegal practice of sell-
