Active Living

Expectation/Big Idea	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4
Active participation and fitness	Travis is beginning to understand the importance of being physically active in his daily life. He displays behaviors that enhance his readiness and willingness to participate in a variety of activities (e.g. attentive listening, positive attitude, knowing what to do, asking for help). This was demonstrated during organized games.	At times, Travis knows the importance of being physically active in his daily life. He describes different activities that can strengthen his heart and lungs (e.g. running, walking, etc.). In addition, he can state reasons for being physically active every day (e.g. to have fun, to improve health). This was evident during class discussions.	Travis knows the importance of being physically active in his daily life. He displays different degrees of exertion using simple assessment methods (e.g. feeling his chest for a faster heartbeat). In addition, he understands factors that contribute to his physical enjoyment (e.g. having fun, a sense of achievement, etc.).	Travis clearly knows the importance of being physically active in his daily life. He diligently sets realistic personal, as well as, group fitness goals and works towards achieving them. In addition, he understands the importance of being physically active in his daily life.
Safety	With assistance, Travis is responsible for his own safety and the safety of others. During our gym sessions, he learned that there are many ways to stay safe and healthy.	Travis is sometimes responsible for his own safety and the safety of others. During our gym sessions, he learned that there are many ways to stay safe and healthy.	Travis is responsible for his own safety and the safety of others. During our gym sessions, he learned that there are many ways to stay safe and healthy.	Travis is always responsible for his own safety and that of others. During our gym sessions, he promotes a safe environment by following routines, listening respectfully, cooperating and communicating with others about potential safety risks.
