Resources in Education ,1998 Inside Jamaican Schools Hyacinth L. Evans,2001 Students and teachers of education in the Caribbean have long relied on ethnographic research from North America to enrich their understanding of life in schools and classrooms Based on actual experiences from the perspectives of both students and teachers this collection of ethnographic research articles provides the first up close view of Jamaican schools and classrooms Hyacinth Evans and her research team used careful well executed interviews and participant observation methods The result is an insightful view of the ways society s tensions are played out in educational settings the ways personalities are shaped and identities formed in face to face interactions and the ways circumstances and experiences in the Jamaican setting affect teaching and learning The articles examine Student teacher interaction Teacher authority how it is maintained nurtured or eroded The social construction of student interest and attention versus disruptiveness and apathy Consequences of streaming children in perceived ability groups Standard Jamaican English SJE methods and their effectiveness in teaching Creole speaking students

The Anthropocene David R. Butler,2021-12-21 This book is devoted to the Anthropocene the period of unprecedented human impacts on Earth s environmental systems and illustrates how Geographers envision the concept of the Anthropocene This edited volume illustrates that geographers have a diverse perspective on what the Anthropocene is and represents The chapters also show that geographers do not feel it necessary to identify only one starting point for the temporal onset of the Anthropocene Several starting points are suggested and some authors support the concept of a time transgressive Anthropocene Chapters in this book are organized into six sections but many of them transcend easy categorization and could have fit into two or even three different sections Geographers embrace the concept of the Anthropocene while defining it and studying it in a variety of ways that clearly show the breadth and diversity of the discipline This book will be of great value to scholars researchers and students interested in geography environmental humanities environmental studies and anthropology The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Annals of the American Association of Geographers

Pan-Africanism, and the Politics of African Citizenship and Identity Toyin Falola,Kwame Essien,2013-10-08 There is no recent literature that underscores the transition from Pan Africanism to Diaspora discourse This book examines the gradual shift and four major transformations in the study of Pan Africanism It offers an academic post mortem that seeks to gauge the extent to which Pan Africanism overlaps with the study of the African Diaspora and reverse migrations how Diaspora studies has penetrated various disciplines while Pan Africanism is located on the periphery of the field The book argues that the gradual shift from Pan African discourses has created a new pathway for engaging Pan African ideology from academic and social perspectives Also the book raises questions about the recent political waves that have swept across North Africa and their implications to the study of twenty first century Pan African solidarity on the African continent The ways in which African institutions are attracting and mobilizing returnees and Pan Africanists with incentives as dual citizenship for diasporans to support reforms in Africa offers a new alternative approach for exploring Pan African ideology in the twenty first century Returnees are also using these incentives to gain economic and cultural advantage The book will appeal to policy makers government institutions research libraries undergraduate and graduate students and scholars from many different disciplines Science Education International ,1997 Resources in Education ,1996 Phonological Variation in Rural Jamaican Schools Véronique Lacoste,2012 This book investigates variation in the classroom speech of 7 year old children who are learning Standard Jamaican English as a second language variety in rural Jamaica For sociolinguists and second language dialect researchers interested in the acquisition and use of sociolinguistic variables an important challenge is how to efficiently account for language learning mechanisms and use To date this book is the first to offer an interdisciplinary look into phonological and phonetic variation observed in primary school in Jamaica that is from the perspective of classic variationist and quantitative sociolinguistics and a usage based model Both frameworks function as explanatory for the children s learning of phono stylistic variation which they encounter in their immediate linguistic environment i e most often through their teachers speech This book is intended for sociolinguists interested in child language variation linguists working on formal aspects of the languages of the Caribbean applied linguists concerned with the teaching and learning of second language phonology and any researchers interested in applying variationist and quantitative methods to classroom second language learning
