Handbook Of Local And Regional Development:

Handbook of Local and Regional Development Andy Pike, Andres Rodriguez-Pose, John Tomaney, 2010-11-17 The Handbook of Local and Regional Development provides a comprehensive statement and reference point for local and regional development. The scope of this Handbook's coverage and contributions engages with and reflects upon the politics and policy of how we think about and practise local and regional development encouraging dialogue across the disciplinary barriers between notions of local and regional development in the Global North and development studies in the Global South. This Handbook is organized into seven inter-related sections with an introductory chapter setting out the rationale, aims and structure of the Handbook. Section one situates local and regional development in its global context. Section two establishes the key issues in understanding the principles and values that help us define what is meant by local and regional development. Section three critically reviews the current diversity and variety of conceptual and theoretical approaches to local and regional development. Section four addresses questions of government and governance. Section five connects critically with the array of contemporary approaches to local and regional development policy. Section six is an explicitly global review of perspectives on local and regional development from Africa, Asia, Pacific, Europe, Latin America and North America. Section seven provides reflection and discussion of the futures for local and regional development in an international and multidisciplinary context. With over forty contributions from leading international scholars in the field, this Handbook provides critical reviews and appraisals of the current state of the art, conceptual and theoretical approaches and future developments in local and regional development.

Local and Regional Development Andy Pike, Andrés Rodríguez-Pose, John Tomaney, 2016-07-15 Actors and institutions in localities and regions across the world are seeking prosperity and well-being amidst tumultuous and disruptive shifts and transitions generated by an increasingly globalised knowledge-intensive capitalism, global financial instability, volatility and crisis, concerns about economic, social and ecological sustainability, climate change and resource shortages, new multi-actor and multi-level systems of government and governance and a re-ordering of the international political economy, state austerity and retrenchment and new and reformed approaches to intervention, policy and institutions for local and regional development. Local and Regional Development provides an accessible critical and integrated examination of local and regional development theory, institutions and policy in this changing context. Amidst its rising importance, the book addresses the fundamental issues of what kind of local and regional development and for whom its purposes, principles and values, frameworks of understanding, approaches and interventions and integrated approaches to local and regional development throughout the world. The approach provides a theoretically informed critical analysis of contemporary local and regional development in an international and multi-disciplinary context grounded in concrete empirical analysis from experiences in the global North and South. It concludes by identifying what might constitute holistic, inclusive, progressive and sustainable local and regional development and reflecting upon its limits and political renewal.

Local and Regional Development Andy Pike, Andrés Rodríguez-Pose, John Tomaney, 2015 This new four volume collection from Routledge meets the need for a comprehensive reference work to allow users to make better sense of the voluminous scholarly and practical literature on these and other issues Indeed the sheer scale of the research output and the breadth of the field makes this title especially welcome

Regional Development: Theory and Practice Baleshwar Thakur,H.S. Sharma,Suresh Misra,S. Chattopadhyay,Surendra Singh,2017-01-01 The Five Volume Series on Regional Development Theory and Practice is a festschrift dedicated to Professor R P Misra a distinguished scholar widely recognized as one of the pioneers who initiated and promoted Regional Planning studies in India This five volume series with over one hundred research papers on different aspects of regional development is a fitting tribute to the scholar who spent much of his life time thinking researching and writing about development in general and regional development in particular These five volumes each dealing with a specific aspect of regional development Vol 1 Concept of Regional Development Vol 2 Measuring Development Vol 3 Development Patterns and Structures Vol 4 Development Policies and Vol 5 Development Challenges Each of the five volumes begins with an introduction which is unique in the sense that this is not merely an introduction to the contributions contained in the volume but also talks of the theory of regional development contemporary development in the discipline and the contrarian views expressed by various academics and policy makers Another significant aspect of these introductions is the global view and a comparative scenario of the developed developing and under developed economies of the world that the editors have kept in view in a debate seeking an universal theory of regional development Regions are specifics and often unique and regional development implies focusing on the assets of the territory its potential and constraints

Handbook of Regional Growth and Development Theories Roberta Capello,Peter Nijkamp,2019 Regional economics an established discipline for several decades has undergone a period of rapid change in the last ten years resulting in the emergence of several new perspectives At the same time the methodology of regional economics has also experienced some surprising developments This fully revised and updated Handbook brings together contributions looking at new pathways in regional economics written by many well known international scholars The aim is to present the most cutting edge theories explaining regional growth and local development

The authors highlight the recent advances in theories the normative potentialities of these theories and the cross fertilization of ideas between regional and mainstream economists It will be an essential source of reference and information for both scholars and students in the field The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Urban and Regional Futures Robert C. Brears,2023-01-13

While urban settlements are the drivers of the global economy and centres of learning culture and innovation and nations rely on competitive dynamic regions for their economic social and environmental objectives urban centres and regions face a myriad of challenges that impact the ways in which people live and work create wealth and interact and connect with places Rapid urbanisation is resulting in urban sprawl rising emissions urban poverty and high unemployment rates housing affordability issues lack of urban investment low urban financial and governance capacities rising inequality and urban crimes environmental degradation increasing vulnerability to natural disasters and so forth At the regional level low employment low wage growth scarce financial resources climate change waste and pollution and rising urban peri urban competition etc are impacting the ability of regions to meet socio economic development goals while protecting biodiversity The response to these challenges has typically been the application of inadequate or piecemeal solutions often as a result of fragmented decision making and competing priorities with numerous economic environmental and social consequences In response there is a growing movement towards viewing cities and regions as complex and sociotechnical in nature with people and communities interacting with one another and with objects such as roads buildings transport links etc within a range of urban and regional settings or contexts This comprehensive MRW will provide readers with expert interdisciplinary knowledge on how urban centres and regions in locations of varying climates lifestyles income levels and stages development are creating synergies and reducing trade offs in the development of resilient resource efficient environmentally friendly liveable socially equitable integrated and technology enabled centres and regions Innovation and Regional Development in China Ingo Liefner,Yehua Dennis Wei,2013-07-24

Although China is now the factory of the world there is no reason to expect that it will always be content with manufacturing labor intensive goods for foreign corporations Scholars must now ask What is the current level of innovation in China And how can we face this challenge and renovate industrial production and innovation capacities in developed countries This edited volume investigates the unique characteristics of Chinese innovation and regional development China s policy framework and the role that transnational corporations play in China s increasing innovation activities This book contributes to the heated debate regarding pathways for technology progress and regional development in developing countries and identifies the ways in which local production networks respond to different configurations of external linkages Linking patterns of global and local production networks with the trajectories of technology development and regional development allows the authors to theorize and test whether and how particular configurations of production networks generate divergent long term local productivity growth and technological development outcomes Innovation and Regional Development in China will be of interest to geographers economists China specialists

Contemporary South Africa and the Political Economy of Regional Development Methembe

Mdlalose, Isaac Khambule, Nene Ernest Khalema, 2025-02-21 South Africa's struggle in balancing its domestic needs while playing a dynamic developmental role in the African region and global context exposes a complex web of relations shaped by its geostrategic location on the continent and the world and the staggering legacies of colonialism and apartheid. As such, understanding the complexities of the global economy and of South Africa's place in it is of great importance. This book builds upon an existing body of literature which has demonstrated that while the post-apartheid South African state has recast its nation-building goals with advances having been made notably in the area of a stellar post-apartheid constitution, policy directives and democratic political integration, economic integration and policy implementation presents a projection of captured interests where big business concerns are entrenched in the post-apartheid state's apparent neo-liberal turn. The main focus of the book is to contextualise issues relating to three main trends in global discourses on development which are significant for South Africa and indeed for the study of the political economy of regional development in the country from the prism of South Africa as a global capitalist state. These trends include the impact of globalisation, regionalisation and the marginalisation of South Africa and indeed the African continent in the global economy, thus unpacking the possible role that South Africa might play in regional development. This volume will be a valuable resource to academics, researchers and students in the fields of regional studies, economics and political theory as well as policymakers, planners and local economic development practitioners.

Regional Development Agencies: The Next Generation? Nicola Bellini, Mike Danson, Henrik

Halkier, 2012-09-10 Across Europe, regional development agencies (RDAs) have become a central feature of regional policy both as innovative policy makers and as the implementers of programmes and initiatives originating from the national or European level. By drawing on a combination of conceptual reflection, surveys, comparative research and systematic use of critical case studies, this book provides a new point of reference by identifying key features of the current and indeed next generation of regionally based economic development organisations.

Research Directions, Challenges and

Achievements of Modern Geography Jerzy Bański, Michael Meadows, 2023-12-01 This book identifies and discusses research directions, challenges and achievements in contemporary geography. It also documents the most current theoretical and methodological considerations undertaken by scientists representing various sub-disciplines of geography with particular reference to human geography. It was assumed that the thematic structure of the currently active International Geographical Union (IGU) problem commissions corresponds to the most relevant and current research directions in geography. Reflecting this assumption, the book consists of 14 chapters contributed by geographers representing 14 problem commissions of the IGU, which allows us to examine geography from different perspectives and to provide the reader with a complete overview of contemporary research issues in human geography. The first part discusses contemporary research problems and issues.

related to scientific methodology and achievements of selected geographical sub disciplines including urban geography agricultural geography transport geography and political geography among others The second part focuses on the interdisciplinarity of geography and the topics of global dimension undertaken by geographers such as global change GIS and geospatial technology marginalization and environmental change This part also discusses the internal relations between geographical specializations and their links with other related sciences including geology sociology and economics The third part discusses the holistic approaches of geography applied to particular regions territories or conditions Africa coastal systems geomorphology and local development

Regional Development and Proximity Relations André Torre,Frédéric Wallet,2014-02-28 The notion of proximity is increasing in popularity in economic and geographic literature and is now commonly used by scholars in regional science and spatial economics

Urban and Regional Planning and Development Rajiv R. Thakur,Ashok K. Dutt,Sudhir K. Thakur,George M. Pomeroy,2020-02-10 This book discusses urban planning and regional development practices in the twentieth century and ways in which they are currently being transformed It addresses questions such as What are the factors affecting planning dynamics at local regional national and global scales With the push to adopt a market paradigm in land development and infrastructure the relationship between resource management sustainable development and the role of governance has been transformed Centralized planning is giving way to privatization not only in the traditional regions but also in newly emerging regions of Asia Africa and Latin America Further attempts are being made to bring planning related decision making closer to the people who are most affected by it Presenting a collection of studies from scholars around the world and highlighting recent advances in the field the book is a valuable reference guide for those engaged in urban transformations whether as graduate students researchers practitioners or policymakers

Learning Transnational Learning Åge Mariussen,Seija Virkkala,2013-05-02 Systems of innovation that are conducted within national borders can preserve inefficient solutions and prevent development This has led to a feeling that transnational learning strategies are more and more desirable In practice the field of transnational learning has been dominated by various policy making institutions such as the OECD and European Union working through different types of policy instruments and programs such as structural funds open methods of coordination as well as international research institutions and networks set up by cooperating national governments working on comparative analysis benchmarking and indicators This book lays out a set of methods which can further enhance the experience of transnational learning starting from the sociological ideas promoted by Charles Sabel of learning through monitoring and by Marie Laure Djelic and others of the translation of experiences between different countries Case studies and examples are collected from three fields industrial development tourism and local government

Financialising City Statecraft and Infrastructure Andy Pike,Peter O'Brien,Tom

Strickland, John Tomaney, 2019 Financialising City Statecraft and Infrastructure addresses the struggles of national and local states to fund finance and govern urban infrastructure. It develops fresh thinking on financialisation and city statecraft to explain the socially and spatially uneven mixing of managerial entrepreneurial and financialised city governance in austerity and limited decentralisation across England. As urban infrastructure fixes for the London global city region risk undermining national rebalancing efforts in the UK, city statecraft in the rest of the country is having uneasily to combine speculation risk taking and prospective venturing with co ordination planning and regulation.
